Editor's Note

At 12:00 a.m. on April 15, 1988, photographers for the Rollamo began the most ambitious project ever tackled by a UMR yearbook staff, the chronicling of a typical day in the life of the students of UMR. 24 hours later, this event culminated in a sixteen page feature which appears at the end of this book.

The project began as a goal to better represent student life at UMR, and to do so more effectively than ever before. To do so, we chose to follow the example set by several recent successful books of this nature, and our course was fixed.

The photographers who participated in this project were given very few guidelines. Simply put, they were to take pictures of everyday occurrences, leaving the rest up to their judgement and imagination. In this effect, I would especially like to thank our assistant photo editor, Jason McHaney, not only for the long hours he spent both planning and organizing the project, but also for his outstanding and exceptional work overall on the yearbook staff. To get a small indication of his value to the Rollamo, please consider that of the over 700 pictures taken by our photographers that appear in this book, Jason is responsible for 228 of them.

Elsewhere in the thanking department, I would like to thank Cathy and Angela, for doing an excellent job with the Organizations section; Tim, for always being completely on top of the UMR sports scene; Bill S., for his unique handling of the Living Units section after the unfortunate departure of our original editor, Marlo, who had to leave in March; Becky, who can't crop worth anything but still did a good job with the Seniors section; Lance, for his advice; Bill B., for his superior running of the darkroom; and photographers Galen, Steve, Jerry, Jim, and Rob, whose work essentially covers whatever Jason didn't do.

It's been a long year, with its full share of both success and tragedy. I can only hope that the 1987-1988 Rollamo has captured enough of the images that will be a part of your memories for years to come.

Best Regards,

Lady Miners Preparing For the Future

Improved individual performance is the keystone to improved team performance. This year, that is what Coach Sarah Preston stressed to her Lady Miner Cross Country Squad. Four girls returned to comprise the smallest team ever at UMR. All of the girls were sophomores which Coach Preston feels will be an asset for next year's team, "this year was an experience building time."

With this year's smaller team, improved times were the goals sought and achieved by the Lady Miners. Debbie Klaus and Chrissy Adkisson both ran the 5K in under twenty minutes. Chrissy Adkisson, team MVP, was also the Miner's top runner leading the team in 6 of 7 competitions.

The squad was not entered as a conference team due to an insufficient number of runners. Two of last year's leading runners, Amy Volmert and Julie Board, did not participate this year because of injuries. Coach Preston felt that these injuries hindered the squad, but with the possible return of both senior runners and the strong core of returning members, the Lady Miners will be a team to contend with next year.

As competition threatens, Elise Collins remains determined to maintain her lead.

Men's Cross Country

Satisfied with their performance, the men of UMR's Cross Country team view this year as having been a season of development. Finishing 4th in the conference, the young team's four freshmen made good progress.

Early in the season, the Miners placed 8th overall at the Jayhawk Invitational in Lawrence, Kansas, competing against some of the toughest NCAA schools. Later, at the Miner Invitational in Rolla, UMR placed 4th overall in a field of 14 teams. Travelling to Indiana for the regionals meet, the men placed 10th, beating Central Missouri and losing to Northwest by one point.

Deserving top honors, Jeff Balmer took first place on the team in all but one meet. Other outstanding performers included captain Ron Rosner and freshman John Conrad. With the exception of seniors Balmer and David Varnox, all members of the cross country team will be returning next year, leaving Coach Dewey Allgood optimistic. "Cross country in the past has had good runners, especially in the previous two years. Considering the good progress of our freshmen, we will be back next year more competitive than ever."

Women's Soccer

Women Survive Despite Shortage of Players

According to soccer coach Paul McNally, in 1987 the women's soccer team, and program as a whole, almost died. The cause was not lack of efforts, but simply a lack of numbers. The women had a total of 13 players, a roster too small to allow for injuries or other problems. Yet the Lady Miners survived and ended the season with a 5-8-2 record. "I've never been around a bunch more dedicated with more effort," stated McNally, "Time and time again somebody came up big. Our record doesn't sound that great until you realize the strikes against us."

Many outstanding performances were given by the UMR women over the season, particularly in the game against Arkansas-Little Rock. Sophomore Sally Puhlick shot in three goals while Lisa Tieber contributed solid quality playing. Also contributing to that victory were Lisa Giblin and Teresa Dickenson. Further standouts through the season included Gina Drussel and Gretta Stromberg, who received notice from opposing coaches calling her the best goalkeeper on this level of competition.

Of the future, McNally stated prospects look good. Stronger recruiting has begun for players, and interest is appearing. McNally is happy with the outlook and stated, "We should have a healthy program in 1988."

McNally's Young Team Ends Falling Record

Soccer coach Paul McNally grins whenever he talks about the 1987 men's soccer team. After a two-year drought with records of 5-14 in 1985 and 5-13 in '86, this year's team turned the corner and took off with a 12-7-1 record for the season.

"The nice thing about it," explains McNally, "is that nine of our players are freshmen or sophomores, so we're still a young team. With a record of 12-7-1, '88 will be something to look forward to."

Among the outstanding players on this year's team, freshman Bill Stephen scored 15 goals, the highest of any team member. Freshman Mike Balassi earned post-season honors as a member of the First Team, All Area, and Kurt O'Brien racked up seven assists to become leader in that area.

The Miners tied with Lewis University for 10th in the region, while Northern Kentucky University took the 9th spot. Proud of the development of the team, McNally stated, "1987 was the year we turned the corner back to a productive soccer program at UMR. We have quality players that are still very young. I think UMR has a lot to look forward to in 1988."

The Future Is So Bright, We All Gotta Wear Shades

In an effort to spark some excitement and make this year's homecoming something to be remembered, the Homecoming Planning Committee and the Student Union Board (SUB) worked persistently through the week presenting new entertainment and activities. The planning committee chose "The Future's So Bright, I Gotta Wear Shades" as the theme for Homecoming 1987 to highlight the current popular song.

Even before the promising weekend arrived, students were swinging into the spirit of homecoming. A ceremonial lamp shone continuously to signal the alumni home to campus and fraternity lawns turned into display fronts for masses of boards, wire, and clusters of tissue paper.

Leading up to the weekend, SUB sponsored a number of events including a comedian, shades day, school colors day, and guitarist concert.

Beginning the weekend Friday evening, a parade led by Chancellor Jischke and his wife began at the University Center and ended up at the M-Club bonfire. The parade featured mini-floats built by various organizations and the Marching Miners. The floats were then added to the heap of materials which made up the bonfire. The bonfire included the introduction of the football team, cheerleaders, and the queen candidates. The grand finale to the bonfire was the fireworks display. After the Fire in the Sky, the crowd made its way to the Miner Recreation Building and danced to the great sounds of The Rave.

Miner spirit was brought to a peak on Saturday as the crowd gathered at

New Jackling Field. Pregame activities included the Queen's procession and the IFC pajama race.

The football Miners clashed helmets with Central Missouri in an MIAA contest. The Miners finished on the wrong side of a 20-14 contest against the Mules.

During halftime of the football game, the crowd anxiously awaited the announcement of Jennifer Lynch as UMR's Homecoming Queen. Jennifer was nominated by the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon and is a senior in mathematics.

Other homecoming sports events included the Green vs. Gray Football Classic, Silver and Gold Golf Open, and MSM-UMR Tennis Classic.

Parties, football, and enthusiasm were all part of a memorable homecoming for students and alumni alike.

Throughout the week, queen candidate voting was set up at the Hockey Puck.

Enjoyed by many, Shades Day was a chance to show homecoming spirit.

Miners Experience Unsettled Season

The 1987 season for the football Miners proved to be an unsettled one. Overall the Miners finished the season with a 5-5 record and 2-3 in conference play. While the record was evenly split between wins and losses, a number of factors made it outstanding, the most important of which was the tremendous spirit maintained by the team. As head coach Charles Finley stated, "The kids played hard. If there was one thing they didn't lack, it was effort!"

Three of the 10 games were extremely close. The Miners lost by only 3 to the Missouri Valley Vikings, 5 to the Northeast Bulldogs, and 6 to the Central Missouri Mules. Coach Finley summarized in saying "The team played hard and played well enough to win 8, but the record only shows 5."

One of the problems early in the season was a high turnover rate. In the first game alone there were seven turnovers. Even so, the Miners handed a 19 to 7 loss to Missouri Western. Overall, the team was less experienced than some teams in the past. With 12 seniors, only five were starters. Furthermore, the Miners started six freshmen on defense for the last five games.

The Miners toughest game was against Pittsburg State. Starting off strong, the team was able to hold them back for two and a half quarters before being shut down with a final score of 31 to 7. On the other hand, the Miners had a fantastic game against Northwest. The Miners both moved the ball well and simultaneously stymied their opponent in in defense, handing the Northwest Bearcats a 31 to 14 loss.

The Miners also had a number of outstanding individual achievements. Both Chris Hawkins and Scott Reimer made All Conference as wide receivers. Reimer caught 57/58 balls throughout the season. Mark Paris made Second Team All Conference and was third leading rusher in the conference. John Henjes and John Meyer made All Conference line backer and safety, respectively.

To summarize his thoughts on the season, Coach Finley stated, "We just didn't quite have enough horse power."

Women's Basketball

This year the Lady Miners experienced a very rough season plagued with injuries, which lead to other problems. Still the women finished the season with a respectable record of 11-15 overall and 5-9 in conference play. Tanya Hough, three-time All Conference player, injured a knee in early September, while Colette Neal played a number of games with a sprained ankle. Mary Pudlowski had a groin pull, and other players were affected by everything from the flu to tendonitis.

As a result of the injuries and the fact that last season graduated three seniors starters, the remaining available players were young. For many of the freshmen it proved to be quite a shock, considering the change from high school to college ball. Coach Mary Ortelee stated, "The freshmen just were not aware of the level of competition. Even so, there was plenty of talent on the team that remained." The Miners' season started well, winning their first two games by at least 20 points. Yet soon a roller coaster began with injuries and the problems which accompany inexperience. The turning point for the team came late in the season against the Central Missouri Mules in Warrensburg. During that game the Lady Miners took a beating, losing by some 29 points Coach Ortelee summed it up by saying, "We simply got our drawers blown off."

The season ended on a very upbeat note where the UMR women got the best of Southwest Baptist, handing them a decisive 65-51 loss. Earlier in the season the game against SBU was filled with controversy, thus part of the inspiration for the team was a revenge factor. "It was a great way to end the season!" said Ortelee.

Despite the injuries there were several outstanding individual performances. Jennifer Cordes made 2nd Team All Conference as a freshman even though she missed five of the conference games due to a stress fracture. Cynthia Farrington also made All Conference and led the team in shooting with 380 total points and 125 rebounds. Casey Engstrom lead the team by blocking 39 shots for the season.

The season was a roller coaster of wins, losses, injuries, and youth. Nonetheless, a satisfied Ortelee stated, "For a situation like the team faced, we weathered the storm well."

Men's Basketball

Miners Do Well with Martin at the Wheel

The basketball Miners completed the 87-88 season with nearly an even record of 12-13 overall. In conference play the record dropped only slightly to 6-8. Although disappointed by the record, Head Coach Dale Martin was pleased with the season as a whole. "They played better down the stretch of the season," said Martin, "They were always improving."

One of the brightest spots in the season was the wind up for conference play. Coach Martin noted, "We won more games in the conference than in the entire 80's decade." The fact that the Miners played a tough non-conference schedule than in the past made their performance strong in conference play.

The Miners showed a strong defense throughout the season with continued improvement. The weak play occurred inside. As a result of team injuries and other factors the inside play lacked the consistency to win more of the games.

Highlights of the season included the game against Arkansas State, a Division I team. Through great team effort, UMR kept the Razorbacks on the run. In the end, a score of 54-64 left the Miners only 10 points short. Another impressive game pushed Southeast Missouri to its limits, with Rolla losing by only seven points, 83-90.

This season also provided some incredible individual performances from William McCauley, Gary Miller, Chris Snyder, and Tim Hudwalker. Adrian Davis led the team in assists and set a school record in free throws making 53 of 63 attempts.

Another star Miner, Duane Huddleston made Third Team All American, the only player from Rolla ever to achieve such an honor.

Throughout the season the team showed character, ambition, and unity. Coach Martin summarized his first year as head coach, stating, "It was a very enjoyable and fulfilling season. The entire team has alot to be proud of."

Rifle Team

For the sixth straight season, the UMR Rifle Gold team reigned as undefeated champion in the prestigious Division I of the Missouri Intercollegiate Rifle Association. With an impressive 32-0 overall record, the team ranked nationwide as 3rd non-scholarship and 16th overall, compared to their 22nd-place rank of last year. Furthermore, a Silver team, sponsored by UMR for the first time, took 2nd of 12 teams.

In individual performance, the UMR Gold team provided another first. Brent Anderson qualified for nationwide competition in the Air Rifle division, a level never before attained by a UMR team member. Other outstanding performances included those at the 1988 National Intercollegiate Sectional Rifle match, hosted by UMR. Brent Anderson placed third, while Paul Luebke won the match.

As with every year, the UMR Rifle team also sponsored a number of shooting events, including hosting of the Phelps County 4-H and Junior Olympics. Coach MSG Jessie Griffin prides himself and the team in not only shooting excellence in the team, but also "in support of the community in shooting events."

As Coach Griffin transfers after this year, clearly he can say he has turned the UMR team into champions.

Despite Injuries, UMR Reaches Quarterfinals

The game of rugby, notorious for rough play, can have its share of injuries. Yet the 87-88 season stands out for the UMR Rugby team, due to the difficulties such injuries caused. The Ruggers finished their season with an outstanding 10-2 record, ranking best in the Missouri Union. The first semester of the season was aimed to be a warm-up for second-semester action, yet resulted in a large number injuries.

"The season was a violent one. We had several broken bones and pulled muscles that caused us to lose several new players," stated UMR Rugby President Larry Linson. Throughout the season, the men teetered along the border of having less than a full team. Fortunately, they had just enough when the key games rolled around.

The Ruggers finished the season and qualified for the Western Regional Rugby Quarterfinals Tournament in New Mexico. During the tournament, New Mexico received its annual allotment of rain, making playing conditions ideal for the true rugby player. UMR finished the tournament with a 2-2 record, defeating Southwest Methodist and South Dakota. Among those deserving personal recognition, Dan Reddington was noted for playing hard during season play.

Looking forward to a new field next year, the UMR Rugby team finds itself hoping for a good 88-89 season with far less injuries.

Miners Achieve Best Record Ever

Water polo at UMR reached an all-time great during the 1987-88 season. Coach Mark Mullin stated, "This is the best team I've worked with since I've been at UMR, and probably longer than that." Considering the Miners, a Division II team, played at the Division I level, their overall record of 13-3 is most impressive.

In the Northwest Invitational Tournament, UMR placed third in a field of 16 teams. During the semi-finals the Miners played their closest game, against Loyola, ranked 10th in the nation. Loyola's advantage showed in that they maintained a fresh team in the water, wearing Mullin's players down.

In the UMR invitational, the Miners placed first, competing against SIU-Carbondale, Southeast Missouri, Northwest Missouri, and Indiana. Giving credit to the fans, Mullin stated it was the support of those in the stands which gave the team their boost to win.

Mullin considers the outstanding leadership structure of the team to be one of the biggest keys to the success of the Miners. Through the leadership of players including Scott Carney, Mark Woody, and Doug Emery, the team played smarter and more closely followed a winning game plan.

Outstanding individuals included Tim Strebb in the hole position, Rich

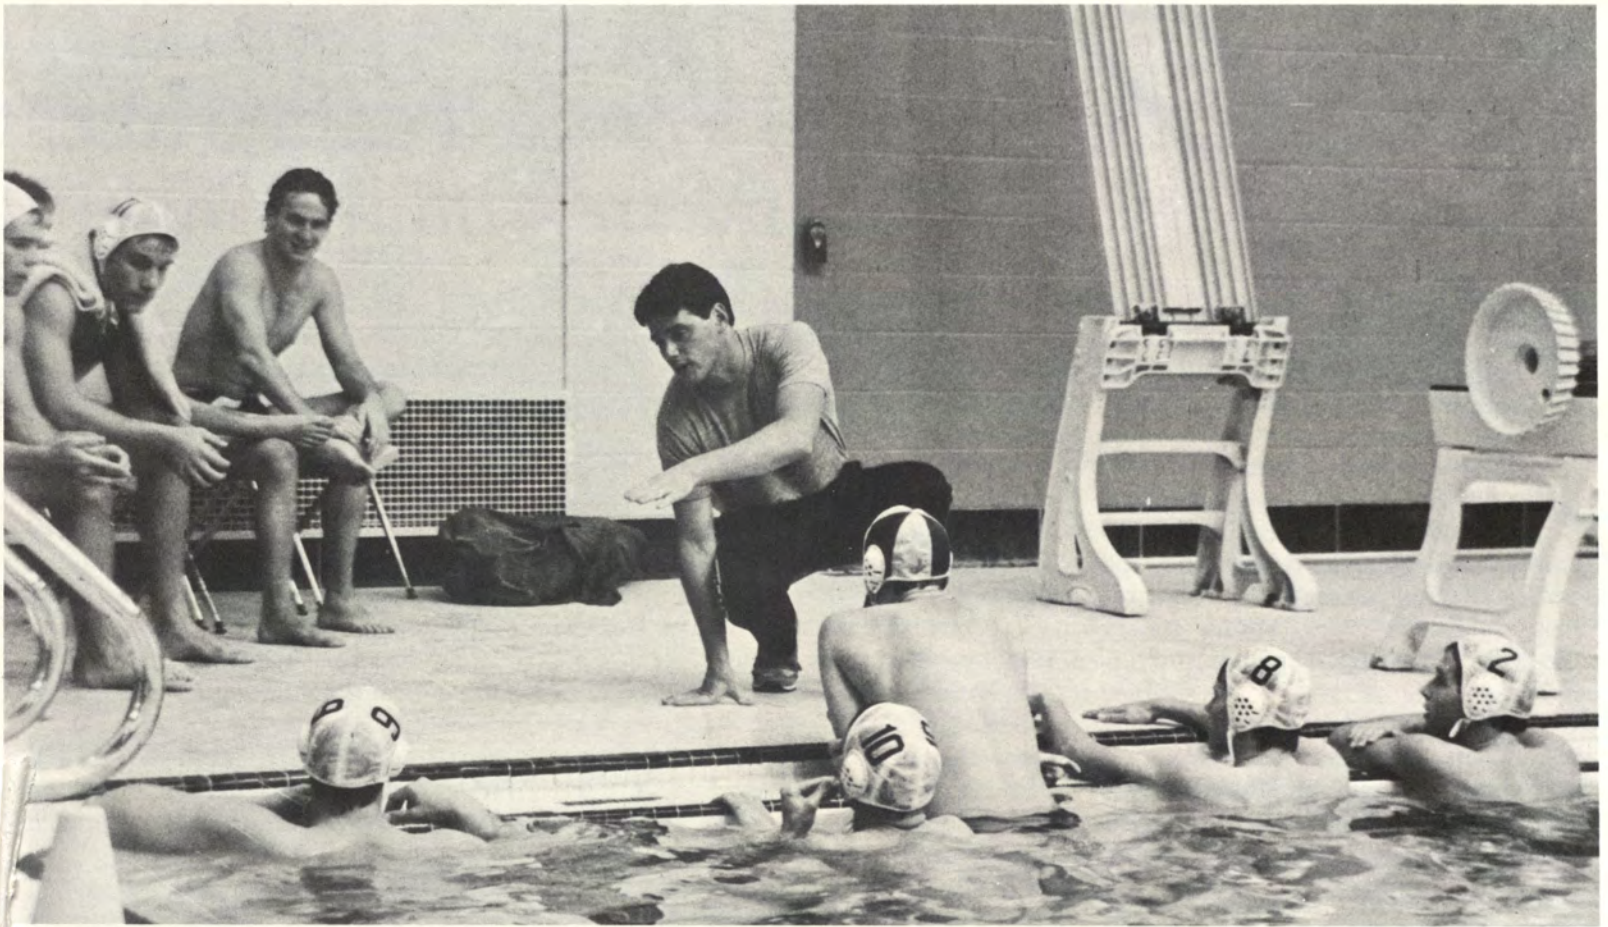

Berger shooting with great accuracy, and Lance Clark as goalie. Clark, a freshman, received particular praise from Mullin, who stated, "I wouldn't trade him for any goalie we played. He always offered outstanding performances and continually improved with every game."

Speaking of the entire team, Mullin said, "The guys on the team put in a lot of hard work and effort. Water polo is not a varsity sport, but we worked just as hard, and that hard work and dedication paid off well."

Swimming and Diving

In most cases, young teams have a difficult time getting started. Comprised of mostly freshmen and sophomores, UMR's swimming and diving team was also plagued by injuries to key swimmers. Yet despite such problems, the team pulled out an impressive 6-3 record. As Coach Mark Mullin stated, "They did a great job overcoming adversity."

In their toughest meet, against Washington University, the team had two swimmers out sick and their best distance man, Steve Goodall, out with a pulled shoulder. Even in such a vulnerable state, UMR slipped by with a 108-107 victory, with diver Mark Guvernator clinching the win.

This year's Midwest Championships Meet in Indiana proved to be the best performance for the team and for all individuals. Coach Mullin said, "Every swim was a lifetime best." Out of the 14 teams present, UMR placed an incredible second.

Many swimmers provided exceptional performances throughout the season. Steve Goodall, team captain, had a pulled shoulder early in the season but came back to win the 500m freestyle and placed 2nd in the 1650m at the Midwest Championships. Goodall also set a new school record in the 500m free at the meet.

Other individuals giving exceptional performances included Kurt Koelling in freestyle, Joe Lundeen in freestyle, Tim Streb in breast stroke, Scott Sandvoss in butterfly, and Jeff Bilyeu in freestyle.

The Miners reaped the benefits of having two divers in the second semester as Tim Davis returned to the team. Davis won the meter contest at the Midwest Championships with only minimal workouts and continued strong through the end of the season.

Coach Mullin summarized his thoughts on the season by stating, "We looked adversity in the face and punched it!"

Miners Serve Up Best Season in Recent Years

Under the direction of Coach Don Stringfellow, the UMR tennis team achieved its best win-loss record in years.

Finishing the season 5-9, the Miners' conference record of 3-3 "was a real accomplishment," according to the first-year coach, pointing out that normally only one or two wins have been recorded in a season of conference play.

Highlights of the year included two important victories. The UMR men handily beat the University of Missouri-

St. Louis team, a feat which had never before been accomplished. Another first-time defeat was dealt to Drury College by the Miners. Having been beaten 9-0 earlier in the season by Drury, Stringfellow's team decided to end its season with a win over their opponent, outscoring Drury 5-4. In the conference tournament, UMR placed fourth, beating UMSL by one-half point.

"A few times this year, our guys played above their potential," commented Stringfellow. The Miners lose three players this year, seniors Mark Medley, Randy Behm, and Alex Kott, yet a good team for next year remains. In the number one slot is Brian Berkstresser, followed by John Johnson, Poontawee Suranunt, and Karl Lewin. "With these four guys, we will do okay, plus we have got three guys coming in from high school."

Satisfied with the season, Stringfellow summarized, "With the guys we have on the team and the obstacles we had to face, I feel everyone did an outstanding job."

New Coach Leads Miners To First Winning Season

The 1988 season proved to be the most successful ever for the softball Lady Miners. The team finished with a 29-12 overall record that included 25 NCAA victories, a record which became the best single season record at UMR, for any sport. They posted a final league-leading record of 12-5 and dominated the league statistically in every offensive category. The Miners also won top seed in the MIAA tournament by going 5-1 in the round-robin. All things considered, it was a fantastic season for a team that had finished 11-16 in 1987.

Many outstanding individual efforts went into producing the Miners' final results. Junior Angie Honse, one of the leaders of the league in hitting, was named MIAA Second Team catcher. Also selected to the second team was sophomore shortstop Caroline Bredemann. Sophomore pitcher Kristy Weber had 17 NCAA wins to her credit at the end of the season, one of the best records in the MIAA.

Defensively, the Miners relied on more than just the talents of Honse and Bredemann. Junior Nancy Wehmeyer, freshman Teresa Dickenson, and Sophomore Nikki Westmoreland were the players that routinely robbed the opposition of many seemingly sure-fire hits in the outfield. Junior Michelle Ditton turned more than one errant throw into just another out at first base. Taking advantage of the solid UMR defense, freshman Joann Stratman hurled her way to the team's remaining eight wins.

The effectiveness of the Miners offense was also the result of various contributions. In addition to Dickenson and Honse, sophomore Lisa Burwell and junior Lisa Korba were responsible for the Miner scoring threat that racked up nearly five runs per game.

The ten starters were backed by a bench of four that allowed Head Coach Julie LeVeck pinch-running and pinch-hitting flexibility. Seniors Sharon Ozersky and Becky Gittemeier, junior Beth Suess, and freshman Gina Marnatti added a sense of depth to the 14 player team.

In her first year at UMR, Coach LeVeck enjoyed her seventh consecutive winning season as a softball coach. Not only did she guide the Miners to their first winning season, she picked up her 100th coaching victory in the process. With the help of assistant coach Sue Hilderbrandt, Coach LeVeck turned the Lady Miners into a strong and confident team that was, for the first time, a serious threat in the MIAA. But with ten returning starters and a number of new recruits, it certainly will not be the last.

Miners Tie For Second Despite Tough Season

This year, as Gene Green spent his first season as head baseball coach, the Miners achieved a respectable record. Winding up at 11-16-1 for the year with 6-6 in conference play, including winning four of their last six conference games, UMR tied for second place for the second straight year. As Green stated, "I didn't pay too much attention to the record. We played one of the toughest schedules in UMR history." That schedule included four games against Division I teams, another four against nationally-ranked NAIA competition, and one game against the Division II national champions. "With all that considered, I was very happy."

Another aspect of the season which Green considered involved the relative age and experience of the team. The young 1988 pitching staff consisted of eight players, only six of which had ever thrown a collegiate pitch, and only two of which had actually played before. According to Green, "It's not surprising that it took half the season to really start playing. Yet as a coach, you like to see progress, and that's what happened."

The highlight of the season came halfway through UMR's tough schedule, as the Miners swept a doubleheader at Southeast Missouri, a feat which had never before been achieved. Several outstanding individual performances occurred within the UMR team, including Dan Daily's placement on First Team All-Conference for the second year. Playing center field, Daily batted .381 for the second straight year and was the top vote-getter as outstanding outfielder.

Achieving Second Team honors were catcher Greg Brummer, rightfielder Dave Wieman, and shortstop Rick Hicks. Honorable Mention players included second baseman Ed Bartel, leftfielder Jim Steibel, third baseman Bret Voypick, and pitcher Butch Parmeley.

Looking ahead to next year, the Miners will lose four people from the roster, including Brummer and Parmeley, yet most position players will return. Green hopes to find the pitching staff continuing to improve, encouraged by the performance of sophomore Glen Weible, who won his last three decisions, striking out 25 and walking 2.

Content with the 1988 season, Green stated, "For my first year coaching, it was a very satisfying experience, thanks to a good, hardworking group that I think will be even better next year."

Mercier's team lands second in conference

Coach A.C. "Bud" Mercier is more than happy to talk about the 1988 golf team. Recording their best season in eight years, the men placed in the top one-third of the field in every tournament.

"I've coached golf teams for 21 years, and this is probably the finest group of young men I've had the pleasure of working with," beams Mercier, adding that the players improved as the year progressed.

The season's highlight for the Miners came as they placed second in the conference. Sophomore Jeff Leonard made All-Conference, while junior Todd Blanton missed by one point. Freshman Matt Dwyer scored a hole-in-one in conference, also achieving the finest single effort for the team at Tan-Tar-A, scoring 76-36 in two days of play.

The Best Ball Tournament, hosted by UMR, ended this year just as it did last year. With UMR tied for first with UMSL, the match went into sudden death. On the second hole, just as last year, UMR lost, conceding to second place. Yet with several personal victories and a second-place position in the conference, Mercier is very pleased with this year, adding with a grin, "They will all be back next year."

UMR Track on the Upswing

Coach Dewey Allgood has his work cut out in building a strong team for next year. This year's freshman-oriented squad set out to attain their personal bests. According to Coach Allgood, that is exactly what they did.

Of the returning Miners, Jeff Balmer was named MVP of the indoor track team. Roy Glenn achieved the indoor high jump record. Pat Short and Kurt Daniels leapt ahead of the rest to hurdle records.

This year's newcomers gave the conference a reason to worry about UMR next year. Gary Gibbs was a top finisher in both indoor and outdoor track. Gibbs set a school record of 1:54:09 in the 800m. Eric Crumpecker, outdoor track MVP, placed in both shot put and discus. Scott Musgrave improved in his triple jump from 42 feet to 47 feet, placing him in both indoor and outdoor track.

Coach Allgood was "pleased to have eight participants in this year's conference meet." Their personal bests pushed the UMR track team to a fifth-place finish. Furthermore, this year's team proved Coach Allgood to be the MIAA Coach of the Year as voted by his peers.

Considering this year was the first for a women's team, Coach Sarah Preston was pleased with the results. The Lady Miners' indoor season consisted of three meets with only four runners competing. Experiencing a slow start, only one runner, Debbie Klaus, placed in the first meet by coming in fourth in the 800, earning her the title of MVP for the indoor season.

The outdoor season saw an increase in the number of runners, bringing the total to six. Though the ladies finished last in the conference by one point, there were many notable performances, including two third-placers.

Chrissy Adkisson placed third in the 1500, while Casey Engstrom took third in the javeline. Another notable placing was that of the sixth-place ranking of Angie Allphin in the javeline. Engstrom's performance earned her the honor of MVP for the outdoor season, considering she also participated in discus competition. Adkisson also earned outstanding honors for her work in the 1500, 5000, and 10000 runs.

Reflecting on the season, Coach Preston stated, "We were really pleased with the improvement of six people. We now have a strong nucleus for a program in the future."

Integrating computers and manufacturing for present-day futuristic factories

The University of Missouri-Rolla had a new addition this year: the Engineering Management building. This building is believed to be the only building of its kind dedicated to engineering management. The Computer Integrated Manufacturing lab inside provides hands on experience for students in several areas of manufacturing.

The current system consists of an automated storage and retrieval unit, conveyor, CNC milling machine, robot and microcomputer. The manufacturing laboratory provides students with a state-of-the-art manufacturing system experience.

This experience has made way for great opportunities for UMR. UMR was selected as one of eight colleges and universities to participate in a project demonstration laboratory at the International Industrial Engineering conference held in Washington, D. C. The project was a scale model "Factory of the Future" developed for a computer integrated manufacturing systems course taught by Dr. Sema Alptekin.

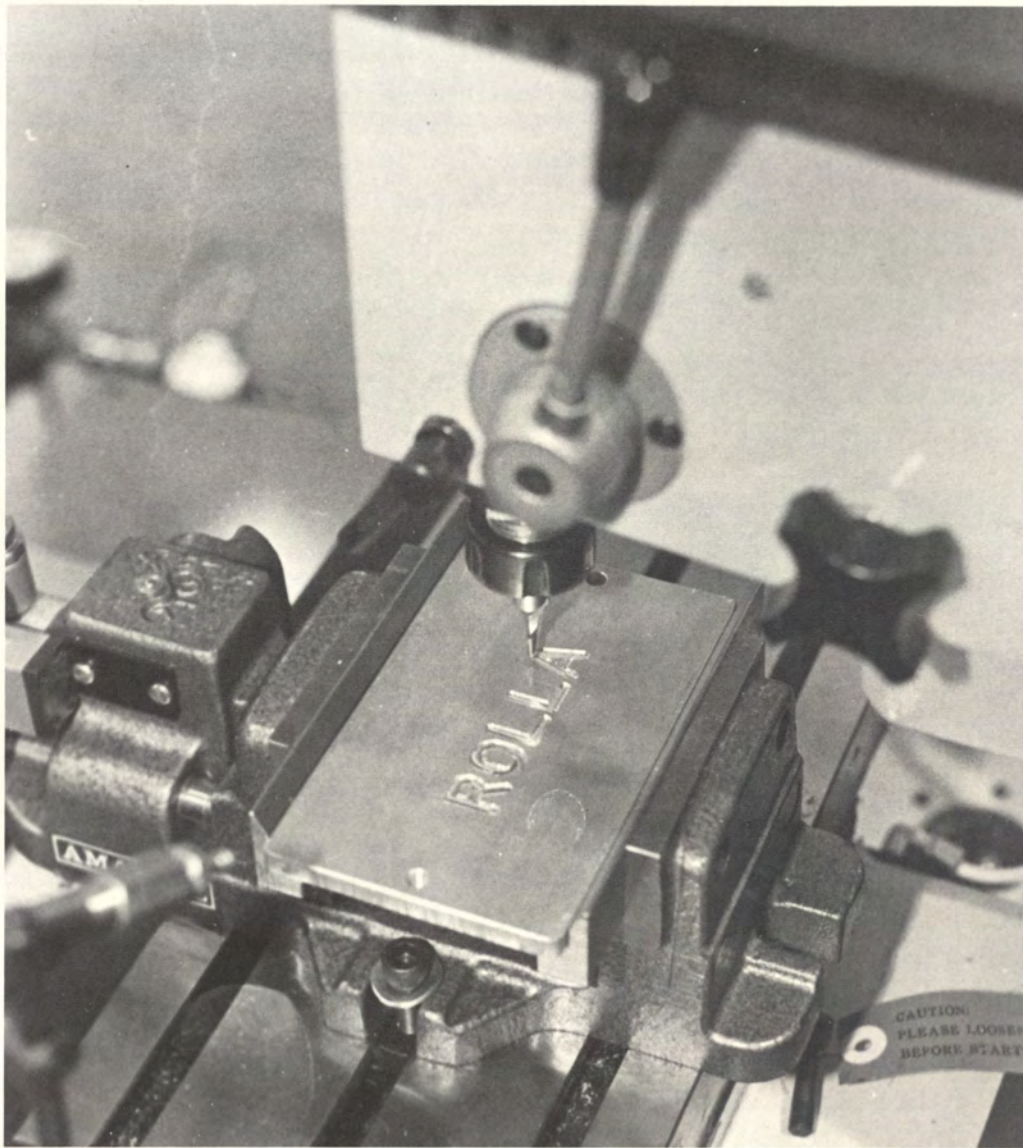

Here, at UMR, computer integrated manufacturing is not a future event. It is part of the present.

SUB sponsored many activities during the year for the students' delight. They sponsored events such as the Bike through Rolla Poker Run, the Mud Volleyball Tournament, the Canoe Portage, the Twister Tournament, the Street Dance, and many others. The Student Union Board also invited many celebrities to perform on campus. Some of these celebrities were Rich Hall, Graham Chapman, Second City, and the Rainmakers. Several services were also provided. SUB rented out equipment through the Miner Recreation Building to students interested in what was available. Barbeques were also held during the year.

SUB entertains; it also provides a sound foundation and varying events for the student body.

The band plays music to accompany the Goldminers in their dance on the football field at the Multipurpose Building.

UMR offers several music groups to students as classes. Several of these are bands. There is the Marching Miners, which performs on the football field and plays music to pep up the crowds. The UMR Symphonic Band gives concerts on campus during the colder weather, when it is too cold to march. The Highland Bagpipes Band and the chamber music groups perform for various events.

The Symphonic Band has given several concerts this year. It performed both classical music and lively marches. The music employed several soloists, such as Matthew Markel, on trumpet, horn player Grant Phillips, and clarinetist Andrew Gardner.

The Highland Bagpipes Band performed for many different events. It marched in UMR's St. Patrick's Day parade. It also performed in competitions. The group played music for the ROTC Awards Ceremony in May.

The various music bands gave many the chance to unwind and show their talents. If the members were new, it gave them a chance to develop new skills. These groups allowed students to sound out and be in the limelight.

People power

Anywhere in this world, belonging is important; UMR is no exception. At a school with over 5000 students, there are 180 recognized campus organizations. The wide range of groups reflects UMR's diverse student body. Many students participated in some of these campus organizations. Such an active student body accomplished a lot.

A few organizations are primarily service groups; however, many other groups and students participated in fundraisers for local and national charities or volunteered their time at local agencies. Other organizations, such as Student Union Board and Student Council provided services for the students and coordinated all-campus activities.

Professional societies, honor societies and student chapters of engineering societies frequently sponsored seminars in special topics and hosted guest speakers. In addition to social fraternities and sororities, religious groups and intercultural organizations often provided a "home-away-from-home" for UMR students. For the time away from class, UMR's many special interest groups helped students share their interests and hobbies with their fellow students. And of course, there are many small, independent organizations around campus. All of the students active in these and other organizations have left their mark at UMR.

Wytes perform at the Madrigal Dinner-Concert. The Wytes Roger Winter, Richard Huizinga, Jim Wilkerson, and Terry Stocking play the sackbutt.

UMR has several groups that play music that is centuries old. These groups include the UMR Orchestra and the Collegium Musicum. Students participate in these groups as a class.

The UMR Orchestra had two performances this year. The first concert was in the fall semester. Beethoven's Fifth Symphony was the music performed. The second concert, called the Chancellor's Concert, was held in late April. Mendelssohn's Elijah, an oratorio, was performed with guest soloists and the UMR Chorus.

The Collegium Musicum is a group of Renaissance musicians. The group performed at the Renaissance Festival in Kansas City. At Christmas time it held the fourteenth annual Madrigal Dinner-Concert. This was a chance to eat and listen to good music at the same time. In April the Collegium Musicum entertained the crowds by the Hockey-Puck on International Day.

The UMR Theater is a course offered to those who want to have a chance to act or learn how to work on a stage crew. There are various jobs one can do for the theater. One can act, work the lights, paint the sets, build props, control sound equipment, or manage.

This year the UMR Theater performed two plays. Fall semester the group acted out Woody Allen's Don't Drink the Water. This play takes place behind the iron curtain and is a comedy. Spring semester the theater performed The Mousetrap, a murder mystery by Agatha Christie. This play takes place near London.

The UMR Theater allows a student to learn about drama, what it takes to put out a production and how to do it, in addition to acting skills.

Richard Gephardt, candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, emphasizes a key point in his platform.

The 1988 presidential election campaign came to UMR in full force when potential Democratic candidate Richard Gephardt flew in on September 17th to give a speech.

Speaking before a crowd of approximately 200 interested students at the Hockey Puck, Gephardt expressed his goal of making the United States the best educated nation in the world by the year 2000. He also spoke in favor of his controversial amendment to the massive trade bill then pending before Congress, which would require mandatory economic sanctions for nations with unfair trade practices.

Gephardt, a member of the House of Representatives, left for other campaign stops that afternoon, leaving behind the impression that a potential President had visited for a while.

Freshman Orientation has become a very important event in helping new students cushion the transition between high school and UMR. Held during the summer before school starts, the program is designed to allow freshmen to become acquainted with many aspects of campus life, including fraternities, sororities, athletics, and many other extra-curricular activities.

Another major freshman-oriented event of 1987 was the Twentieth Annual UMR Industry Day held on September 22. Required attendance for all freshmen enrolled in the school's Introduction to Engineering course, students were able to ask representatives of over 50 industries, professional and governmental agencies questions regarding co-op programs, employment opportunities and other information about the companies, making the day a valuable educational experience.

February 3rd: Assessment

J. McHaney

Freshmen work to complete their portion of the assessment test.

J. McHaney

For an entire month, assessment was heavily advertised to encourage attendance.

For over three months before the event, assessment was a topic of great concern to the students of UMR. Required by the state of Missouri, assessment is a method of evaluating the educations of students on a college campus, in order to find the fields of study that are deficient and need improvement.

Though ice and snow storms the day before held down attendance, roughly 44 percent of the student body participated in the first time event.

After the test, the reactions of the participants were mixed. Although some believed that assessment had accomplished its purpose, a majority of students were disappointed in the test. Writing in the Missouri Miner newspaper, Randy Richardson felt "the ACT was much more difficult." Another student commented, "I really don't see how the tests are going to prove to me that my education will be any better because of some psychologist's analysis of the test scores." Whether or not this impression can be changed in future years remains to be seen.

J. McHaney

Participation in assessment suffered greatly due to an ice storm the day before, making the trip to campus a hazardous one.

An Uncooperative Winter

J. McHaney

J. Steck

Three times during the school year, campus life came to a virtual halt due to snow storms at the worst possible times: during finals, assessment, and St. Pat's. The first two times, students had to contend with knee-deep snow and icy sidewalks that made travel to tests an adventure. Although nobody could get away with skipping finals, the turn-out at the voluntary assessment was low, the poor weather keeping many away. Likewise, a late snow played a factor in decreasing the number of people that participated in the festivities surrounding St. Pat's. These three snow storms along with the general unpredictability of Rolla weather made the winter of 1987-88 one of the most uncooperative winters ever.

Construction, Destruction and Rehabilitation

Norwood Hall under rehabilitatory efforts. The building is being prepared to hold many of the student activity and organizations offices.

UMR's top administration went on a building binge this year, changing the face of Rolla as well as that of campus. Two new buildings were added, McNutt Hall and the Engineering Management Building, and a Fine Arts Center is on the way.

All of this construction activity has created a need for land to build on, which has meant tearing down a number of the university's older buildings. Already torn down, or scheduled for demolition are: the old infirmary, the old university police office, and the former Kappa Sigma house on State Street, which are being cleared for parking; Sigma Nu's brick house, which will make way for the Fine Arts Center; and an entire row of houses along 14th Street, whose lots will be converted into a road-side park.

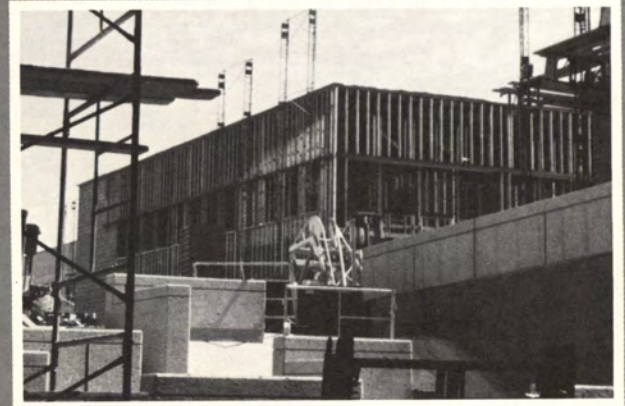

In addition, the university has been rehabilitating a number of already existing structures. Norwood Hall, and the grounds around it, are being repaired and modified to hold offices for student organizations. Likewise, Nagogami Terrace, formerly a student residence, is being renovated to house offices for small businesses. Finally, other rehabilitatory plans call for the restoring the Rolla Building, the oldest building on campus, to its original condition for use as a museum, rounding out an ambitious program of change for UMR.

Distinguished Lecturers Speak at UMR

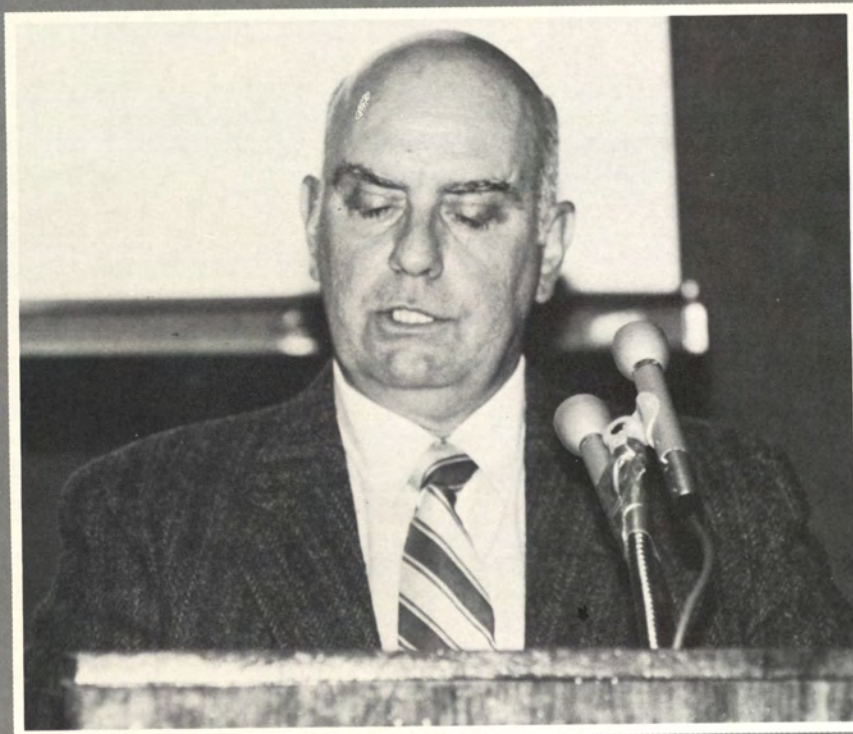

J. McHaney

On Wednesday, April 13, Roger M. Boisjoly presented the 1988 Harry William Lee Porth Distinguished Lecture. Formerly employed by Morton-Thiokol, Boisjoly worked as a structural engineer guiding research and testing on the Space Shuttle's Solid Rocket Booster Cases. It was his involvement in this work that alerted him to the fact that there was a problem with the O-ring seals that could lead to a failure of the space shuttle Challenger. His speech focused on the attempts of himself and other engineers to delay the Challenger flight, and the process used in reaching the decision to launch, as well as the ethical considerations involved in this process.

This year's Remmers Special Artist/Lecture Series was presented by the Honorable Caspar W. Weinberger, who served as the U.S. Secretary of Defense from 1980 to 1987.

Weinberger spoke about the role of the university in the defense of a free society. In his speech, Weinberger stressed the historical role of the university in this purpose, and used it as a basis to advocate for the Strategic Defense Initiative, a satellite-based anti-ballistic missile system.

After his lecture, Weinberger answered questions from a number of students, the topics ranging from SDI, Panama, and the Persian Gulf, to the 1988 presidential campaign race.

The St. Pat's Board is one of the most unique organizations at UMR. Charged with the organization and operation of UMR's famous St. Patrick's Day celebration, representatives from student organizations on campus spend most of the school year selling sweatshirts and other items to finance the annual festivities.

This year, the members of the Board donated over 600 leftover '87 sweatshirts to the Aunts and Uncles organization of St. Louis, who will distribute the sweatshirts to needy children who can wear a size "small."

The St. Pat's Board also sponsors the annual Septemberfest, which is considered a "warm-up" to the St. Pat's gala in the spring.

A Tragic Event . . .

On Saturday, February 13, 1988, Anthony Joseph Busalaki passed away after becoming ill at a St. Pat's Board social function. Busalaki, a junior in electrical engineering, represented Sigma Nu Fraternity on the Board. He was 20 years old.

Upon learning of the tragic event, both students and administration alike were stunned, with the reaction on campus on the following Monday being generally subdued. This attitude changed to one of apprehension among the students however, when it became known that university officials were planning to take extensive action in relation to the incident.

On Sunday, February 14, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Sigma Phi flew their flags at half-mast to express the mourning of the entire Greek system for the tragic incident of Tony Busalaki's death.

Leads to Hard

The actions taken by the university administration are as follows: 1. All meetings of the St. Pat's Board must be held on campus. 2. No alcohol may be served at any events sponsored by the St. Pat's Board. 3. The "Extravaganza" event of the St. Pat's celebration, traditionally held on Thursday of St. Pat's week, was declared to have an excessive focus on alcohol, and was cancelled.

The reaction by students to Chancellor Jischke's sanctions was almost completely one of harsh dispute, as evidenced by the sheer turn-out to a specially scheduled open forum where over 600 of the university's 5000 students jammed into Centennial Hall to argue with the Chancellor.

Immediately prior to the forum though, student anger partially vented itself in the form of a failed resolution urging the recall of Student Council President Sean Foote, who was sharply criticized for his statements to reporters.

Feeling the Heat: Chancellor Martin C. Jischke explains his reasoning behind imposing drinking curbs on the St. Pat's festivities.

Questions

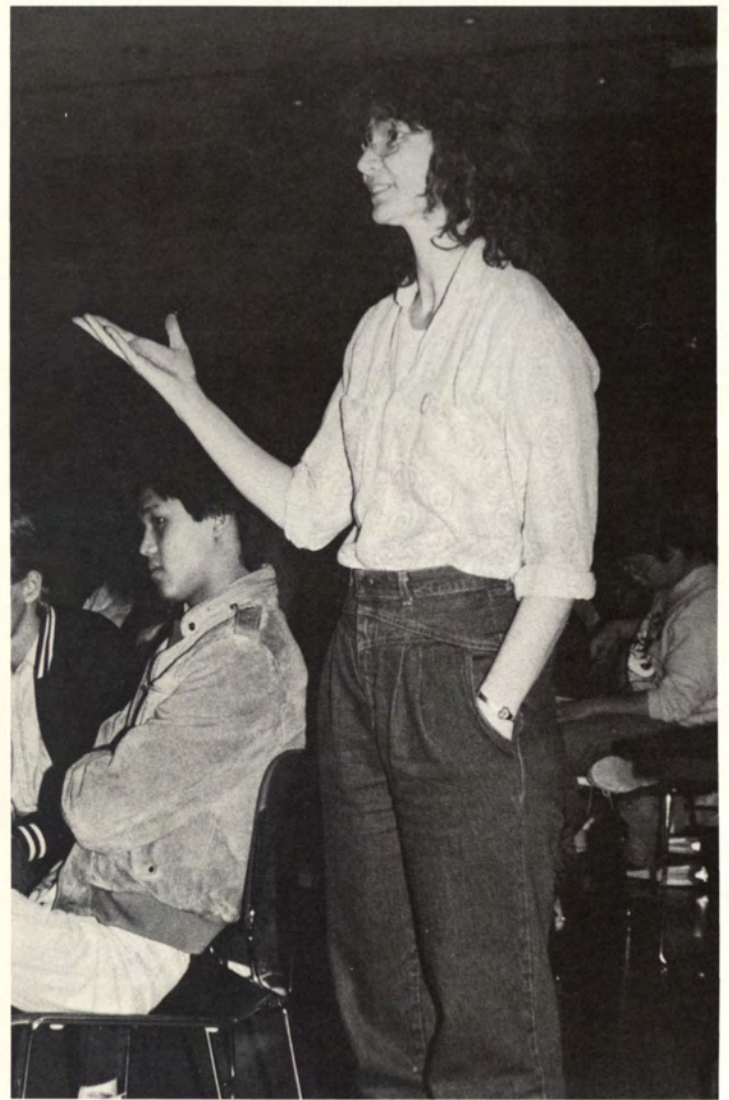

At the forum, the Chancellor explained the reasoning behind his decisions, and proceeded to draw fire from the audience. Jischke was faulted for potentially creating a much more dangerous situation in Rolla, where the safe, supervised atmosphere of the Extravaganza event would most likely be replaced by multiple party events throughout the town, greatly increasing the chance of accidents resulting from the uncontrolled environment.

In defense of his actions, Jischke cited the larger issue of the need to combat alcoholism on campus, but was panned for his use of misleading statistics to prove his point.

The effect the Chancellor's conditions will have on future St. Pat's celebrations is still unclear, but for the 1988 bash, the sanctions had a dulling effect, marked by low attendance (partially due to weather) and dampened spirits overall.

Freshman carrying their shillelaghs through the main part of campus.

Every year, it is the duty of all freshmen on campus to rid UMR of snakes in preparation for the arrival of St. Pat in Rolla. In this 80th year of the tradition, the campus frosh once again carefully selected the small trees that become the snake-killing weapon of choice, the shil-lagh, and set about their serious purpose. Only after all of the reptiles have been eliminated from the campus can the festivities for St. Pat's begin, a task once again successfully accomplished.

The 1988 St. Pat's Games took on new character in the face of Chancellor Jischke's prohibition of the traditional drinking games. The loss of such events as the Quarter Barrel Chug, the Endurance Drink, and the Boat Race left the St. Pat's Board with a deficit of events. However, the Board rose to the challenge with such events as the Three-Legged Bat Race, and variations of older games, that did much to maintain the basic spirit of the games.

A Parade for Tony

One of the highlights of the 1988 St. Pat's Celebration was the annual parade on March 19th. The parade is a cooperative effort by UMR students and the local merchants of Rolla with the St. Pat's Board directing the activities and merchants sponsoring the floats, which are constructed and mechanized by student organizations. Roughly 15,000 people viewed the parade this year.

The 1988 Parade was dedicated by the St. Pat's Board and Sigma Nu Fraternity in the memory of Tony Busalaki, who was responsible for coordinating funds and entries in the parade.

When the Missouri State Legislature passed a bill cracking down on the act of hazing by making it a criminal offense, many students here at UMR became concerned that the 80 year old tradition of throwing student nominated knights into a pool of foul substances known as Alice would be destroyed forever.

These fears proved to be groundless however, as once again on Sunday, March 20, the student knights prepared to meet Alice at the university track and football field.

The process of meeting Alice is a long and difficult one. First, the knight must be captured by St. Pat's Court and brought before St. Pat. Next, the knight is made to kiss the boots of St. Pat in a brief knighting ceremony. Then it's into the foul-smelling depths of Alice. Afterward, each knight is hosed off and only the memory of Alice remains.

The knighting ceremony of Alice ended the 1988 St. Pat's festivities, which most felt were relatively tame in comparison to previous years.

Huddleston Goes All-American

During a game against Southeast Missouri, senior Duane Huddleston (35) looks for an open teammate.

Duane Huddleston, star senior guard for the University of Missouri-Rolla, has been named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) All-American Team. Huddleston, who averaged 24.2 points for the Miners, and was one of the top three-point shooters in the United States, was named to the NABC Third-Team.

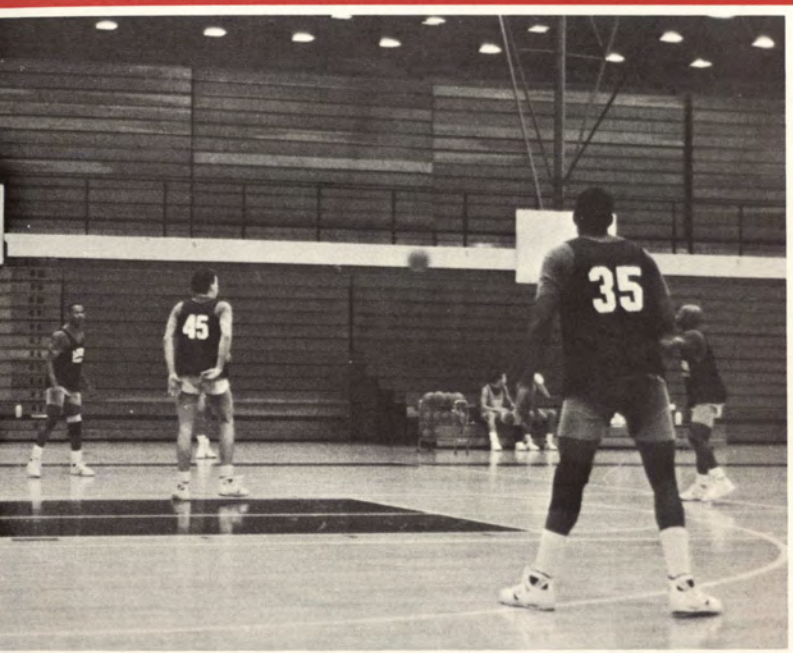

Huddleston was the only MIAA performer to make the first, second or third teams, and joined St. Joseph's (Ind.) forward Stan Kappers as the only other player from the Midwest to be honored. During the 1987-88 season, Huddleston scored 606 points — best ever in a single season for UM-Rolla.

"I'm thrilled for Duane, as the NABC All-American honor is quite an honor," said UMR head coach Dale Martin. "He not only had a fantastic season statistically, but he also was our undisputed team leader on the floor."

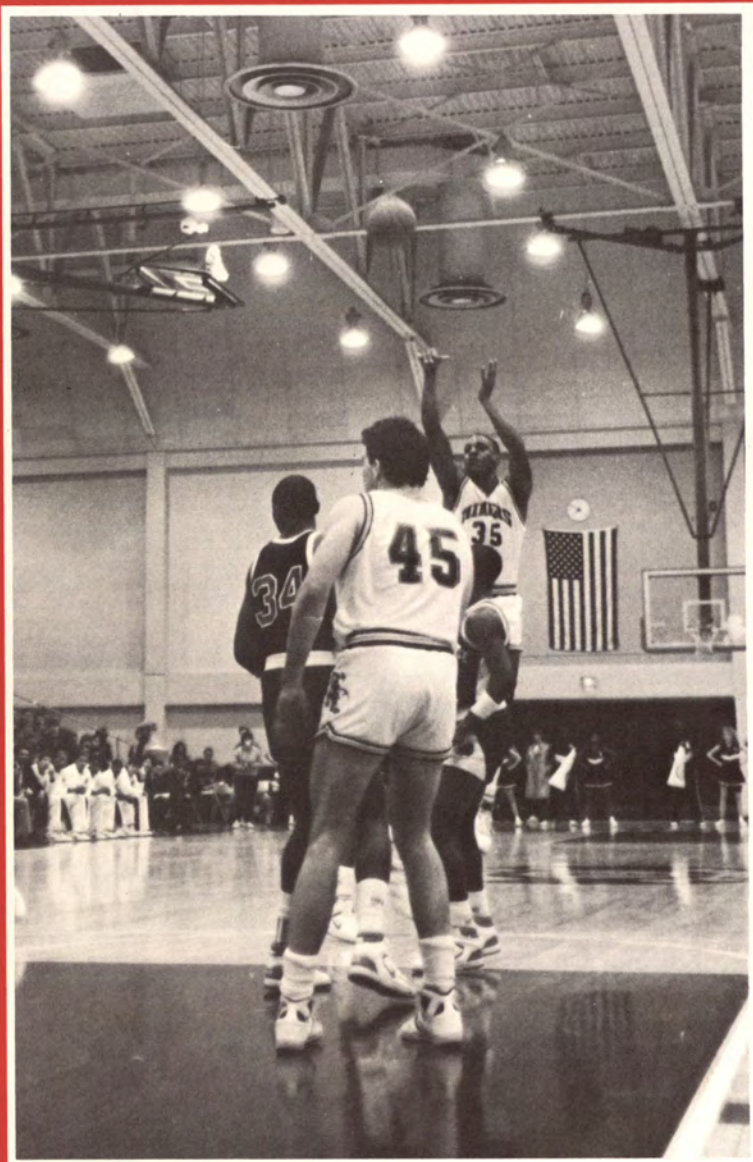

Huddleston connected 52 percent of his three-point shots and made 79 percent of his free throws. His 606 points bested the previous mark of 595 set by Ken Stalling during the 1973-74 season.

"Only one other player has ever attained NABC All-American status at this school," noted UMR Athletic Director Billy Key. "And that was all-time leading scorer Curtis Gibson, who also was named to the third team in 1984-85. We are all proud of Duane's accomplishments and wish to thank him for all the contributions he has made to this program."

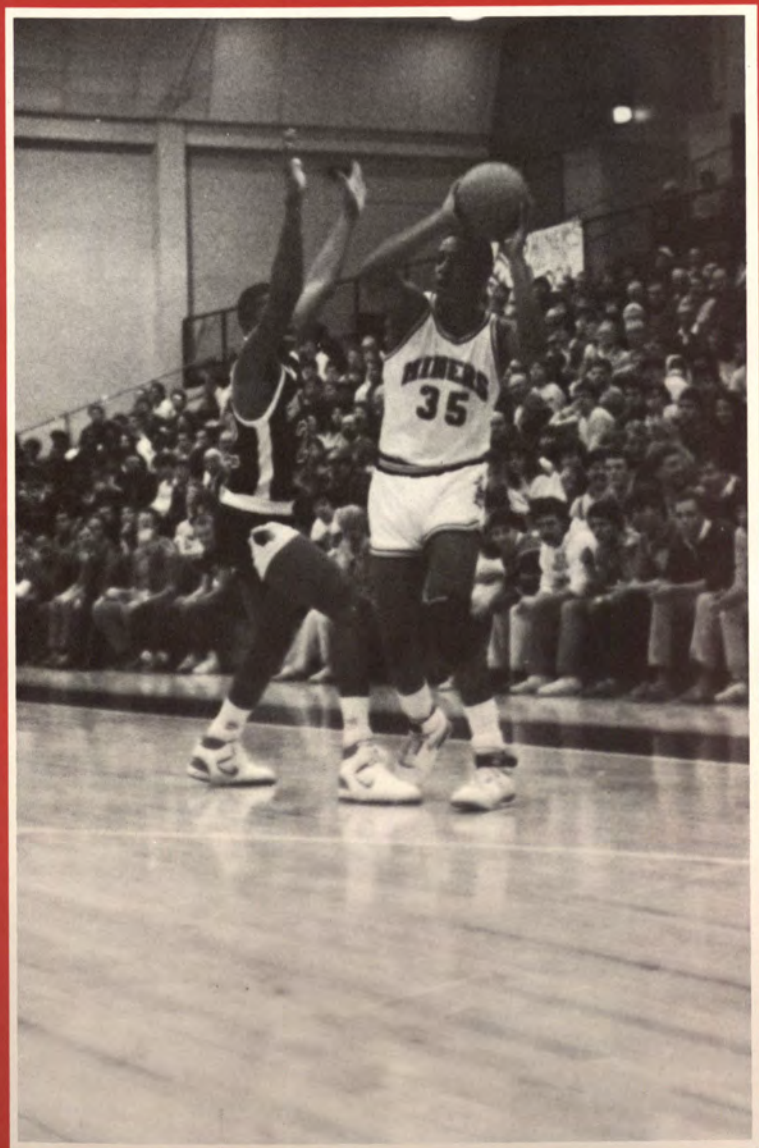

Huddleston, a three-time "Player-of-the-Week" selection in the MIAA this year, was earlier named to the conference first-team. It was the second straight season he made the first-team group.

A native of Decatur, Ill., the 6-5 guard came to UMR with a sterling prep record and improved dramatically during the past two seasons.

"Duane Huddleston is a class act, and it has been my sincere privilege to be associated with him," Martin said. "This honor is very deserving, and I'm thrilled the other coaches in the NCAA Division II agree with me."

A Visit to the UMR Nuclear Reactor

One of the least known buildings on the UMR campus is the Nuclear Reactor Building. Nestled between the Physics Building and the Engineering Mechanics Building, the University of Missouri-Rolla Reactor serves as a working laboratory for the university's Nuclear Engineering students and faculty.

The UMR reactor is a swimming pool-type design which uses uranium as fuel to produce a power output of 200 kilowatts. The pool of the UMR reactor is 9 feet wide, 19 feet long, and 27 feet deep, and contains 32,000 gallons of extremely high-purity water.

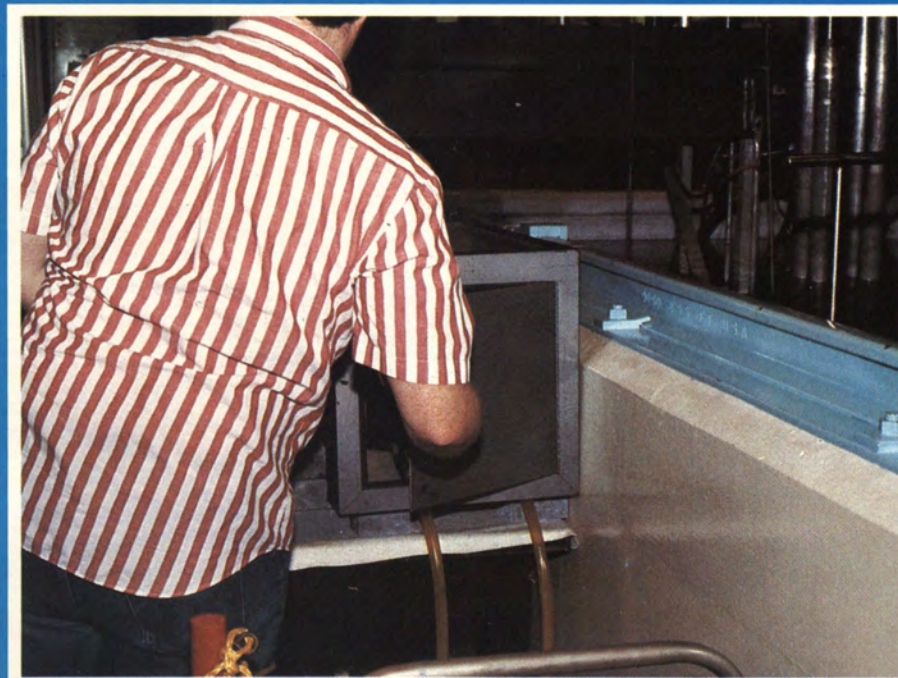

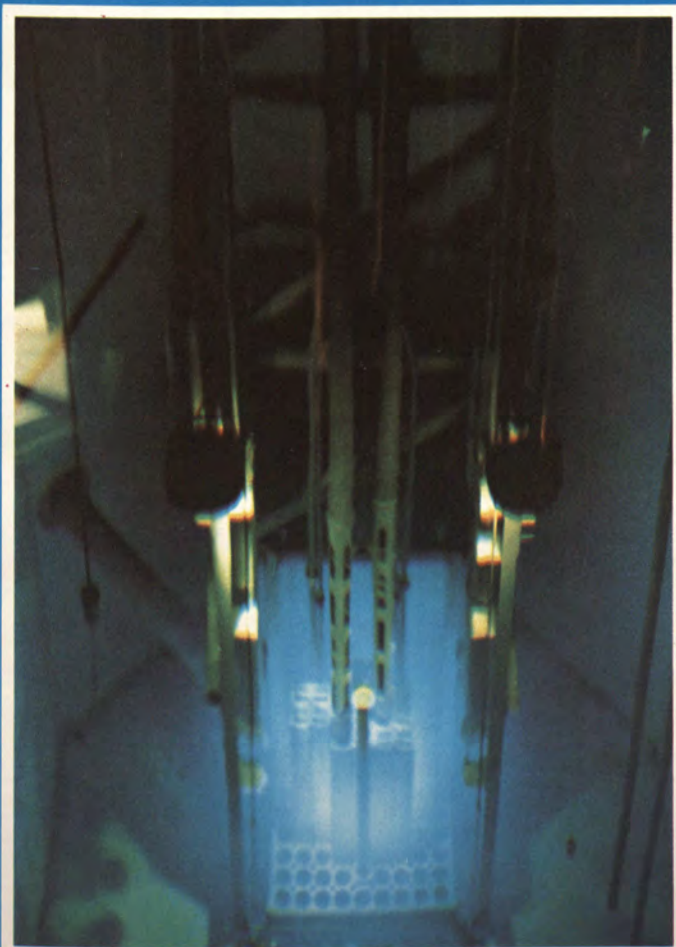

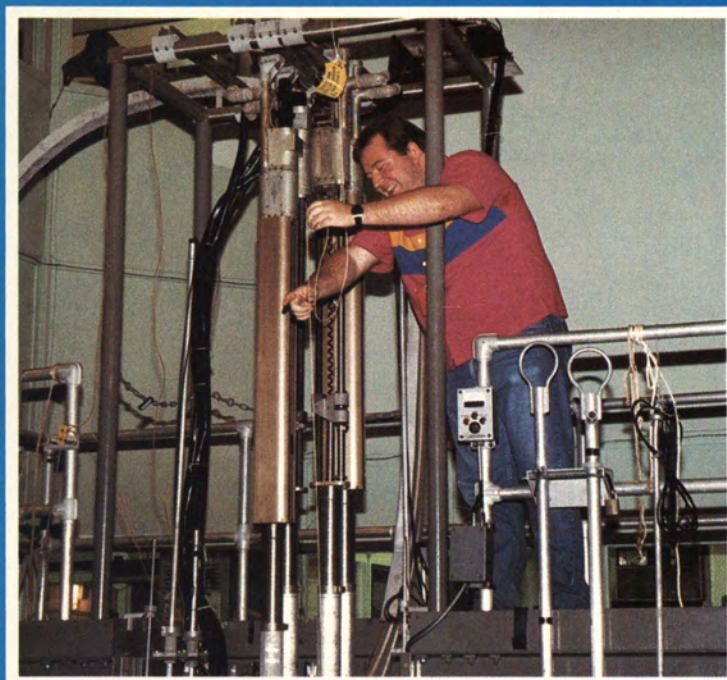

Using the reactor, nuclear engineering majors can learn many facets of nuclear reactor operation and can gain valuable experience for their careers.

The UMR nuclear reactor has been in operation since December 9, 1961.

Triangle Fire

Tragedy Strikes Triangle

On Thursday, January 14, 1988, during the first day of classes at UMR, tragedy struck at the members of Triangle Fraternity in the form of a fire that was to leave their house uninhabitable. The blaze was caused by an electrical short in a wall outlet on the second floor.

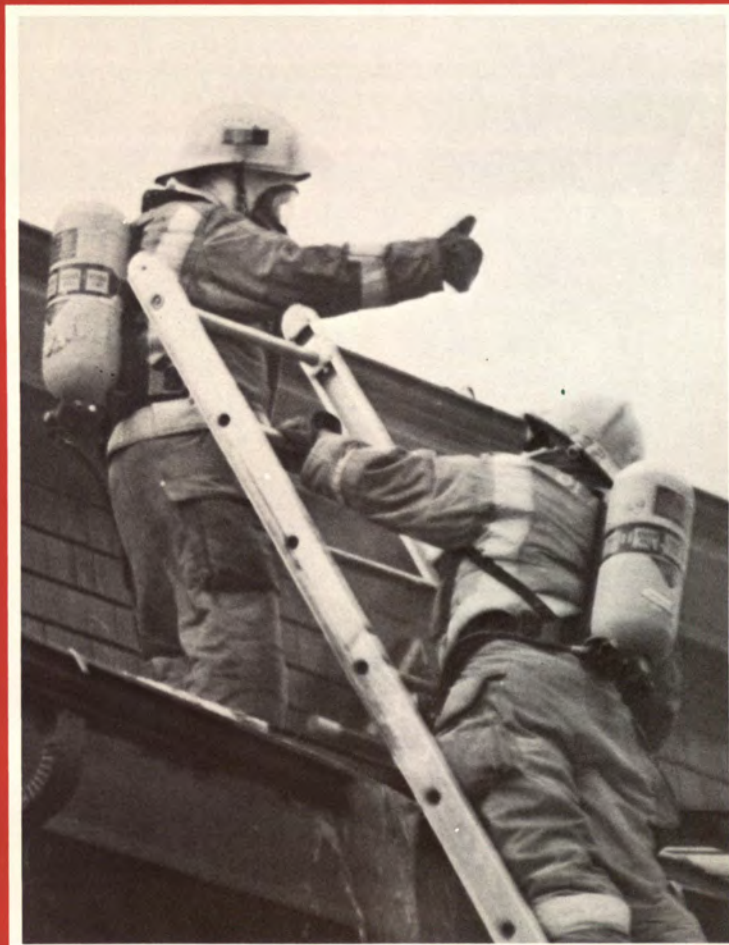

For the brothers of Triangle, the fire meant the loss of their home, as well as many of their personal possessions. "It was awful," commented Triangle member Bill Booth, "just to stand there while you watch your house and things go up in smoke."

Although the fire was largely contained to the Rock House's second and third floors, smoke and water damage also occurred in the house's basement and first floor. In all, the Rolla Fire Department estimated the damage to be approximately $400,000.

Damage from the fire was extensive, with the second and third floors being gutted, and the lower floors suffering water damage.

After the fire, the members of Triangle began to go about the business of salvage and rebuilding. First moving to the vacant McInerney Hall in the Quad, and later to the Regency Inn, the brothers worked to repair the Rock House for use in the Fall 1988 semester.

Among the brothers, the fire has had the effect of binding them more tightly together. "I feel that getting closer to my brothers is the best thing to come out of the fire," stated Triangle's student council representative Rob Wagner. With this attitude, a successful future of Triangle Fraternity on the UMR campus is assured.

LIVING UNITS

ACACIA

A STRONGER CHAPTER . . .

The 1987-88 year has been a good one for Acacia. With a 2/3 increase in house membership, we are on a strong upward route to a new and stronger chapter.

Our new house is located at 1208 Oak Street (rear), which overlooks Schumann Park and is only two blocks from campus. Our house and grounds office has been quite busy this year with the breaking in of the new house. We are trying to get all of the problems taken care of before the final purchase of the house this summer. Our one year lease will expire in May at which time we will collect on the option to buy. The house is a ranch style structure with a full unfinished basement. In addition to the main structure, there is a seven car garage with an indoor racquetball court built in. We currently have ten men living in the house. The current unfinished capacity of the house thirteen; with the expansion in the basement the capacity will be raised to twenty or twenty-five. After the successful rush this spring we will need to begin completion of the basement.

This past year, we have kept with our motto of "Human Service." Early in the year our chapter helped the Masonic Lodge of Rolla raise $1800 for charity by parking cars at the Ozark Extravaganza. We aided D.E.A.F. Inc. of Rolla with their pizza drive for charity. Our members participated in the City Clean Up sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, and some also helped the Knights of Columbus with their annual Tootsie Roll Drive.

Socially, our house has sponsored a rugby victory party, an APO function, an IFC function, and an Arnold Air Society Walleyball Tournament on our racquetball court. The pledges of our chapter put on the annual Christmas party, which turned out to be one of the "best ever." We and the men of Pi Kappa Phi got together at our house for a party and some walleyball. We also had our annual softball game with Pi Kappa Phi during the St. Pat's weekend.

The Missouri School of Mines Chapter of Acacia Fraternity is definitely on the upswing, and gaining momentum. Hopefully, within two or three years we will reach our ultimate goal of twenty to twenty-five members, and remain there.

The brothers of the Nu Deuteron Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity have had a very active and entertaining year.

The year started off well with a strong pledge class of 14 eager new freshmen who successfully carried out the 11th Annual Big Bash. Fraternity Row and Delta Tau Delta all participated in the event.

This was followed by a great homecoming in which many alumni came down and stayed the weekend at the house and participated in the banquet that was given for them. The pledge class's last effort was the Christmas Party given for the entire house.

The house ended up ranking 6th on campus in grades last semester, finishing above the all men's average. Our freshman scholarship was awarded to Joe Frericks and Jeff Eftink for their outstanding performances during the pledge semester.

The spring semester was also a lot of fun for all the brothers. Ten outstanding new brothers were initiated.

We really psyched up for St. Pats and did very well in the events. We placed 5th overall in the competition. Our Greek Week participation was also spirited as we pulled the AEPi chariot for the first time in many years.

Throughout the year, Alpha Phi Alpha has kept up the traditions set in the past. We elected Audrey Brown as Miss Epsilon Psi for our annual ball. We produced our successful calendar. Dr. J. R. Betten, a professor in the E.E. Department, has been selected as our new faculty advisor.

This past year, the brothers won the Sigma Gamma Rho Step Show at Northeast Missouri State University. We also received the most improved GPA award for Spring '87. Our Epsilon Psi chapter received second place for chapter of the year at the state convention in Warrensburg while Brother Bates was named Brother of the Year for the state of Missouri and placed second in the regional convention competition.

For service to the community and campus, A Phi A founded the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Endowment Scholarship Fund which consists of a sum of $10,000, which joins the other programs initiated by Alpha Phi Alpha: the Minority Engineering Program, National Society of Black Engineers and Scientists, and the Association of Black Students. Alpha Phi Alpha also established the G.A.D. service fraternity with the IFC.

Brother Lawrence George was rewarded for his 23 years of service to the Epsilon Psi chapter, at the Regional Convention in Wichita.

In campus leadership, Brother Bates served as a cabinet officer in the IFC. Our "Silver Dollar Pool Table" was a big success at the Greek Week carnival this year.

Our chapter's membership is increasing and we are looking forward to an even more productive year, in 1988-89.

BETA SIGMA PSI

Traditions and Competitive Spirit

The 1987-1988 year saw the Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Psi, the National Lutheran Fraternity, go through many changes. The house has been remodeled in several areas, including the lounge and bathrooms. The little sister program for the upcoming year has also been reviewed and reorganized.

With athletics, Beta Sigma Psi took third place in intramural football and seventh overall in intramural competition. This year in campus activities the brothers earned first place in Homecoming. In the St. Pats competition we placed third. A lot of hard work poured into the cudgel earned a second place trophy. The house again hosted numerous activities during Greek Week.

Beta Sigma has worked on many projects and donated funds to a number of charities. We are also active in campus organizations and will continue to keep the competitive spirit.

After a strong rebuilding year in which we doubled the size of our house from 30 to 60 members, the brothers of Delta Sigma Phi continue in their commitment to be the best. For the past 2 semesters, we have had the highest GPA of any fraternity on campus.

Over 30% of our brothers are varsity lettermen, and we are a dominant force in intramural athletics, seizing 1st place in football and 2nd place in basketball.

With the addition of our new bar, many parties and sorority exchanges made for a busy social calendar during 1987-1988, and we look to bigger and better events in the future.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Move Toward Expansion

The Epsilon Nu chapter of Delta Tau Delta started off the year by welcoming ten new pledges to the house. This marks the second year in a row that we have received a strong pledge class. Since our rush program is going very well this year, we hope to receive at least ten new pledges next fall. Because of this increase in membership, we are beginning to look toward expansion. Hopefully, within the next four years, work will start on a new wing for the house.

Delta Tau Delta has been very successful in its service projects this year. We participated in the IFC Cleanup in October, and took first place in participation. We had a lot of fun and showed the Rolla residents that we also care about the town. In November, we had our annual canned food drive for the L.O.V.E. organization. We were able to collect about twelve crates of food for those in the community who needed it.

The chapter did very well in intramural softball this year. After a series of exciting games, we took second place in Division 2.

We have high hopes for next year, also. The Delts look forward to another strong pledge class, more intramural victories, and continued service to the community.

The Beta Alpha chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order has enjoyed a prosperous year, starting with the biannual National Convention, where we once again received the Ammen Award for chapter excellence. Since the fall semester started, we have been trying to improve our already strong chapter. The chapter finished third in grades out of all the fraternities, with the freshmen finishing second overall.

Kappa Alpha has also been busy in charity work. This year, KA once again joined in putting on a haunted house and gave area underprivileged children a Christmas party to remember for years to come.

Socially, Kappa Alpha has been very active. At the start of the fall semester, Kappa Alpha hosted the Boxer, Bowtie & Bathrobe Party with Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Theta, and all three sororities. Next came the traditional Old South Week, where the chapter remembered their tradition with the hayride and dance. The spring semester started with the Valentine's Day dance hosted by the pledge class.

On campus, Kappa Alpha has been busy, with several members holding major offices in many service organizations. KA also finished 10th in the St. Pats competition, and third in Greek Week.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

Honorable Achievement

The Iota Omega Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternities Inc. received its chartered at UMR in February 1980. The fraternity can be recognized by the Greek letters KAPsi of Phi Nu Pi. The members are often referred to as NUPES. Within our brief eight year existence at UMR the chapter has received awards for National Chapter of the Year and National Brother of the Year for promoting the ideals and purposes of the fraternity and community service.

The fundamental purpose is to encourage honorable achievement in every field of human endeavor and we strive to exemplify this.

The chapter boasts our five recent graduates, which lowers our membership to eight. Recent grads are Andre Spears, BS Chem E; David Porter, BSEE;

The chapter initiated one new member this semester, Mr. Tony L. Blue, a freshman in EE, before our annual weekend. This annual celebration, held the weekend before St. Pats, has become one of the largest gatherings for Kappa men in the midwest region. The weekend culminated with our Banquet and Jewel Ball at which we crowned Miss Regina Washington of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority as the chapter's Queen for 1988.

KAPPA SIGMA

Bringing Fun to Rolla

Kappa Sigma, for another year, has put excitement back into the dull town of Rolla. The year has been a blur of social activities. This includes the Pre-Assessment Day party and the party we held after our Run for Cerebral Palsy.

We worked hard during the week and looked forward to the weekend to kick back and party. There have been several sorority exchanges and TGIF parties. The brothers did their annual breakfast of screwdrivers and doughnuts for the Zetas. We are looking forward to surprising them next year. We wish to thank the Tri-Sigs and the Tri-Delts for coming to Rolla to party with us.

We are also leaders on campus in various activities. Brother Hopkins thought he was a god during Greek Week (actually he was Briarius). Brother Stehlin was elected Miner-of-the-Month for April for his work on the Run. Brothers Bradley and Kuehn were President and 2nd Vice Pres., respectively, for Alpha Phi Omega. Brother Eyermann is Editor in Chief of the Rollamo. The house won 1st place in the Greek Sing with their version of California Girls.

We have proven to be a strong brotherhood, both on campus and off. We plan to improve next year our social and campus achievements.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Balance of School and Social

Lambda Chi Alpha has been a fraternity of on-going traditions for over 70 years. We at Lambda Chi Alpha believe in providing more than just a place to stay and an organization of which to be a part. We believe in the betterment of all of our members. We emphasize studies; after all, we are here to learn and to graduate. We also encourage our members to get involved in campus organizations. As can be seen, we have our share of leaders on campus. But we also believe a good education should be balanced by a good social life. Members are encouraged to take part in intramurals as well as attend house functions.

Lambda Chi Alpha has kept up our tradition of service. We held our annual Chicken Benefit Dinner, collected door to door for Cystic Fibrosis, and held a "road block" for Cerebral Palsy. The Lambda Chi Alpha gang was also seen again after a ten year absence. Even though we are a house of traditions we do change. In this time of liability and law suits, Lambda Chi Alpha has become aware of its responsibilities and now follows a set of party guidelines. We have fun, but safely and responsibly. Our house is changing, too. Big house improvements are in the planning. This year has been a year of rebuilding after our numbers fell. Next year we're looking to be bigger and better. Keep an eye on us and expect to see good things from Lambda Chi Alpha.

Phi Kappa Theta burst into the 1987-88 school year with a newly renovated house, some excellent athletic talent, and a strong pledge class of 19 men.

Building on the previous year's interior renovations, a major exterior facelift is planned. Plans include a roofed veranda encircling the house.

As far as intramurals are concerned, the brothers of Phi Kap showed their competitive edge by placing fourth overall due, in part, to their second place finish in

men's basketball.

Fifteen pledges were initiated into the brotherhood of Phi Kappa Theta early in the second semester, and one more pledge was added for Winter '88.

Brother Michael Gross upheld the house's fine St. Pats tradition by reigning over the festivities as St. Pat 1988.

It was another banner year for Phi Kap and it is hoped that an even better one is in store.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Top Ranked Sports

The men of Pi Kappa Alpha are looking forward to the 1988-89 school year with great expectations. The social calendar for last semester was filled with events like the spring formal at the Lake of the Ozarks and rush parties at St. Louis and Jefferson City.

Once again we fared well in intramurals with are standing near the top. A lot of points were made up with our third place finish in cross country. Through hard work and working together, we hope to rank first next year.

With the intramural sports coming at an end, Pi Kappa Alpha was ranked second. Special thanks go to Bob Lynch and Greg Johnson who were both honored as athletes of the year. With their help, Pikes have taken first in soccer, volleyball, and bowling; second in wrestling and tennis; and third in basketball.

Homecoming also went well for our chapter this year. The weather didn't dampen our spirits a bit when it came to cheering on the Silver and Gold. Our pledge class did well in their production of their "Pink Cadillac" which took second place in the non-float competition. Most importantly, we were happy to see over 80 alumni come home and have a good time with the active members and pledges during our Mexican party.

All in all, 1988 has been great for PiKA and we hope everyone will get psyched for next year.

PI KAPPA PHI

Much Accomplished

Looking back over this last school year, we are very satisfied with what we have accomplished. First of all, our fraternity is the largest it has been since the time we were first chartered in 1968. Also, we have been making great headway as far as getting our name known. Many of our members are in leadership positions on campus and we are doing fairly well in interfraternity competition. We, at Pi Kappa Phi, have a very optimistic look for our future.

SIGMA CHI

Successful Men and Little Sisters

Big Fun rouses partyers for the Derby Days party.

For the third straight year the Theta Eta chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity has won the Peterson Significant Chapter award. The "Peterson" is the highest award a Sigma Chi chapter can earn. The significance of the fact is even greater, being that Theta Eta has only been eligible three out of its four years of existence.

Sigma Chi was up and coming during the 1987-88 school year. In the fall, Sigma Chi held its annual Derby Days. With the popular St. Louis band Big Fun providing the music, Derby Days was a rocking success. The rush that followed was phenomenal as Sigma Chi pledged twenty-four quality men for the fall and another twenty-two for spring.

It was another successful year in intramurals also. While competing well in all events, Sigma Chi won the Division I softball championship that had eluded us for two years now. The Little Sigmas can never be forgotten. In intramurals they were always competing near the top, making strong showings in track, football, basketball, softball and many others. Side by side, the men of Sigma Chi and their little sisters made two of their strongest showings ever in St. Pats and Greek Week.

The 1987-88 school year was a landmark for Sigma Chi, a stepping stone for a fast moving and growing fraternity. The men of Sigma Chi along with their #1 little sister organization will continue to strive forward and follow the traditions of excellence that were established.

A terrible tragedy shook the Sigma Nu fraternity on February 13, 1988. The whole house mourned the death of Anthony J. Busalaki.

This was a troublesome time for the house but we all look forward to the completion of our new house on 12th street. Construction began in early March and is scheduled to be completed in time for the Spring '89 semester.

This spring, Chi Omega and Sigma Nu sponsored a frisbee throw that benefitted the Rolla Cerebral Palsy School.

The last bash that occurred in the "brickhouse" occurred during Greek Week this year. The annual Toga Party with Sig Ep christened the "brickhouse" for demolition by the University.

Service Projects And a Chariot

The brothers of Sigma Pi began the year with 20 pledges and 42 actives. The social season began with little sister rush parties and a Boat Cruise with Kappa Delta Sorority.

We held a number of activities for the community and for charity this year. Our annual Halloween "Great Pumpkin" for the local children and outhouse burning in front of the Chancellor's house took place again; traditions we hope to continue. Our fall GAD service project was held at Boy's Town and our pledges held their own service project cleaning up a senior citizens center in Newburg. We are most proud of the Multiple Sclerosis project we held in St. Louis in which we raised over $3800.

On campus we have shown our presence by taking 4th place in IFC's Greek Week. Our Show Chariot, the first we ever made, took second in its competition. We also placed in soccer and mini Olympics events, and we recaptured the Tug of War trophy. We took sixth overall in St. Pats, including our 1st place non-float entry: the "V-6 Engine." To round out the year, we walked away with 2nd place in Greek Sing and once again won the 12th man award.

High Grades and Good Rush

With the semester over, the brothers of Sigma Tau Gamma are still working hard. Our rush program is in full swing with parties in St. Louis and Kansas City that have been successful.

Scholastically, the house mid-term GPA was raised .5 points from last semester and we hope to keep this up next year.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Tradition, Friendship

We, the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, have a winning tradition of which we are proud to have continued this year. Our most notable achievement was a 1st place Cudgel and a 1st place victory over St. Pats.

Greek Week was also very prosperous for us as we finished a strong 2nd place. We also raised $1000 for charity during the Greek Week festivities.

TKE is also well represented in campus wide organizations. Tim Beckerle was this year's Greek God Zeus and represented Tau Kappa Epsilon throughout this year's Greek Week. Tim also served as president of the IFC. Many other brothers hold offices in campus organizations to make TKE a leader among fraternities at UMR.

TKE is also very strong academically. Our pledge classes have finished first in GPA among other fraternities in the past two semesters to make us among the top five fraternities overall.

In closing, we would like to say, "TKE is friendship," which is what fraternities are all about. We realize that these are the best years of our lives, and the friends we make now will be the friends we will have for life. Not only do we share this friendship amongst ourselves, but we extend it to men and women across the UMR campus. We are proud to be Tekes.

The Alpha Psi chapter of Theta Xi has once again had a successful and very constructive year.

Beginning the year with an associate member class of 15, Theta Xi made great improvements in Homecoming and intramural competition. The boost in membership also required the addition of an annex due to an overfilled house.

Theta Xi was also a great help in community service, acquiring over 300 hours of service work. Theta Xi's little sister organization also made great improvements in membership with the addition of 5 new pledges in the fall.

Much time was spent improving the chapter house at Theta Xi also. Thanks to our Alumni Association for helping to finance the replacement of the roof and gutters. The members also replaced all major appliances in the house to keep large expenses out of the way for years to come.

We had a very good year as we had one of our biggest pledge classes ever. We also did well in campus-wide GPA. Our Christmas house display was something to be proud of; we won first place.

We did very well in participation for both St. Pats and Greek Week. Next year is sure to be even better. Triangle fraternity will go strong for years to come, no matter what obstacles are in our path.

This semester, instead of a formal we decided to have a theme party. The result was a "Graffiti Party" with a fifties theme. The party went over very well and everyone really enjoyed the evening.

Chi Omega has also been busy planning our Elusian Dinner which was held on April 17th. It was held at Zeno's and all of our alumnae were invited.

We took 1st place in St. Pats and are very proud of winning 1st in the float competition. This has made us very excited about the coming year and we hope to do as well next year.

Special Memories

Around Zeta, things keep getting better and better. We started the year swiftly by winning the Crown Chapter Award the highest award from our national, at the summer convention, and then went on to reach quota again with twenty-five super pledges.

We went on to have a great semester and started out the second semester with a black and white theme party that was a huge success. Zeta had strong participation in St. Pats and went on to once again win Greek Week. The year ended with our annual Spring Fling formal and many special memories.

PANHellenic

Working Hard on Campus

UMR Panhellenic, the governing council for the sororities on campus, worked hard year round to make 1987-88 the best ever for the Greek girls. In the fall, we hosted a "Pledge Dance" for the new pledges and a "Friday the 13th Red Hot Party." Proceeds from the "Red Hot Party" were donated to the LOVE organization in Rolla. In December, we worked with the IFC to put on the Greek Sing and Dance. We also said goodbye to our senior reps and welcomed in our new baby reps and executive council. We elected Krisie Pecora of Chi Omega to President, Stephanie Dinwiddie of Zeta Tau Alpha to Vice President, and Kappa Delta's Kim Hoffmeister to Secretary/Treasurer.

Winter semester proved to be the busier of the two semesters as we prepared for all of the festivities of Greek Week. Judy Slaten was honored as Athena, our Greek Week Goddess. Judy, a member of Chi Omega, served on numerous IFC/Panhellenic committees and contributed a lot of time and hard work as a member for three years. Panhellenic planned the Mini Olympics, which included crazy competitions among the fraternities and sororities. These games included the human body roll and the mattress carry. Before the games at the Elysian Fields, we hosted a breakfast for the IFC gods, goddess, and Queen finalists.

In addition to Greek Week, we had an all Greek Dance "Under the Sun" and a dinner exchange among the three sororities. In the fall, we promoted sorority relations with a Progressive Dinner. Each dinner course was eaten at a different house.

We also congratulate Linda Desilet of Kappa Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha's Jenny Lynch for tying for Panhellenic Woman of the Year.

We look forward to an even more successful and fun year in 1988-89!

I.R.C.

Many enjoyed the IRC sponsored float trip. Here, two boats compete for the strong current.

InterResidence Council

These three are living it up at the Party Cruise. Get them away from the rail!

The IRC Barn Bash attracted all kinds of people.

N.R.H.H.

NRHH (National Residence Hall Honorary) is a National Honorary for students demonstrating outstanding leadership and involvement in the residence halls.

(We apologize as there is not a group picture available for the NRHH)

*A Day
In The Life
Of UMR*

A New Day

J. McHaney

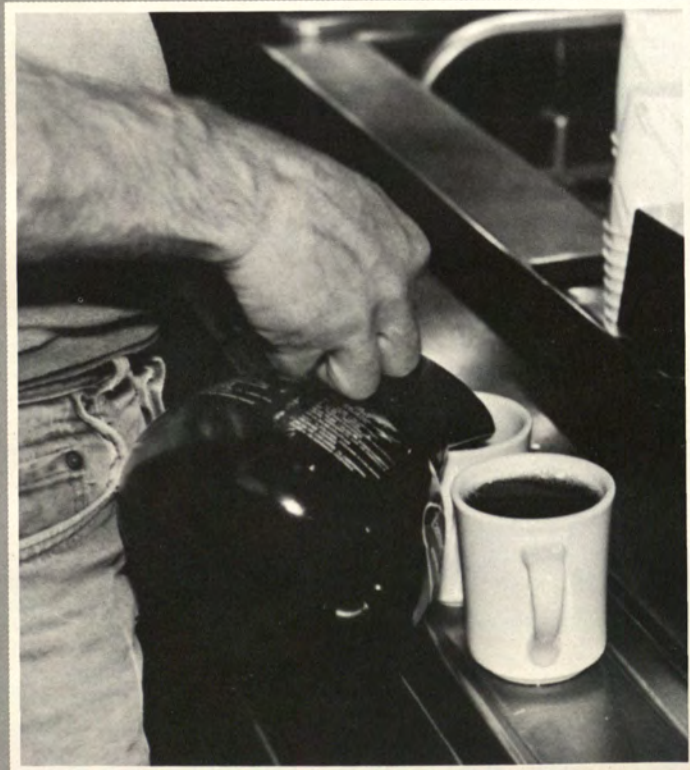

J. Lamar

For some people, the day before isn't over yet, and its still not too late to call for help with a homework assignment due the next day.

J. McHaney

At sunrise, the morning's chores at Sigma Pi are only beginning, with the sweeping of the sidewalks in front of the house.

G. Oellig

The morning brew, helps to clear the cobwebs and get the day off to a good start.

J. Lamar

The morning ritual at Kappa Delta Sorority begins with the removal of hair curlers set in place the night before, to get just the right style for the day ahead.

The library provides a good environment to get informed of the day's news.

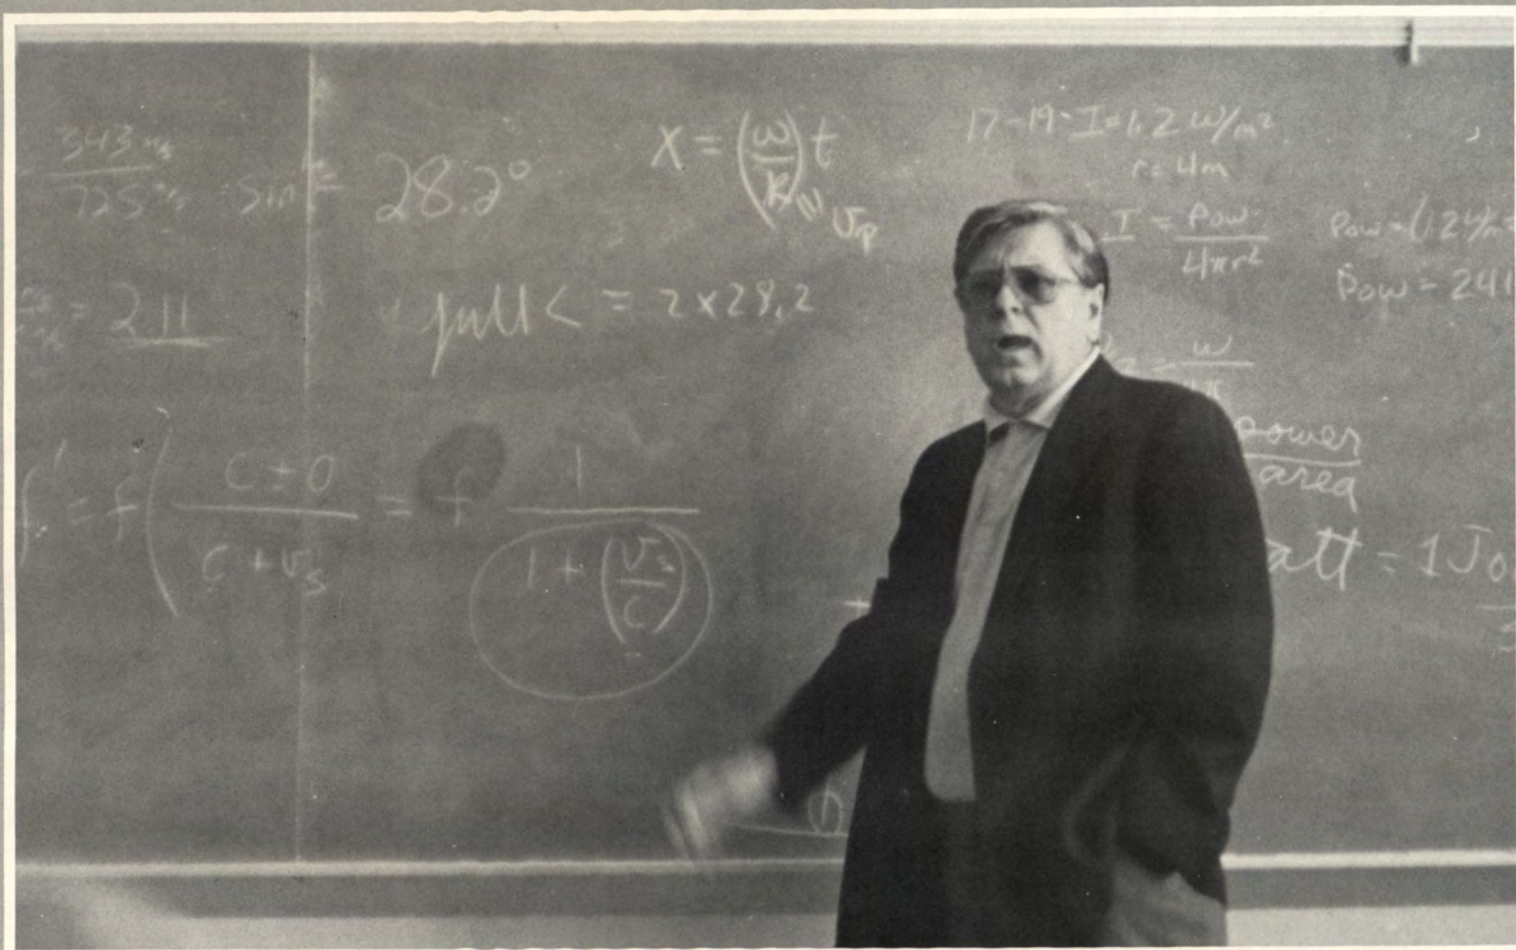

G. Oellig

The typical day at UMR wouldn't be complete for students living in the T.J. dorm without the long walk to classes on campus.

J. Steck

A.M.

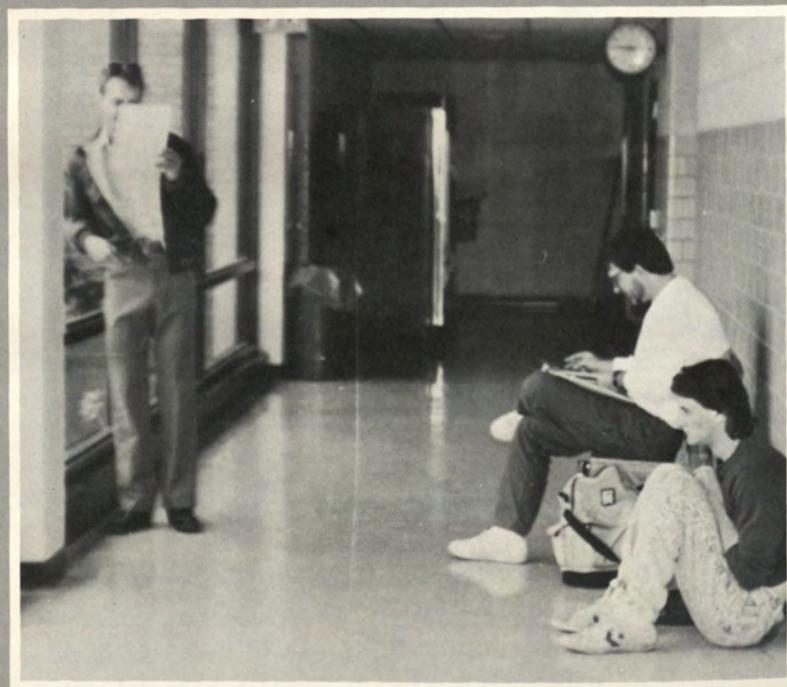

R. Spurlock

G. Oellig

Another morning occupation of a UMR student involves turning in a film to the circulation desk of the library.

G. Oellig

Waiting outside in the hall of the Math and Computer Science Building for the 8:30 class to let out provides a chance to finish up homework due in just 15 minutes.

J. Steck

A physical plant worker sorts through a shipment of coal to the UMR power plant.

J. Steck

The cashier's window in Parker Hall is a scene of activity throughout the day.

J. Steck

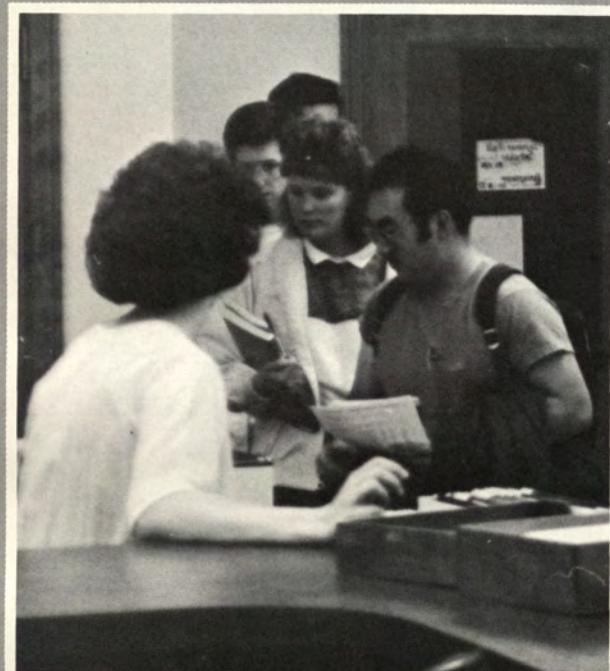

A technician distributes student programs in the Math-Comp. Sci computer center.

Mid-day

B. Booth

Working with an oscilloscope, is just one of the many technical challenges UMR students face in the course of their academic career.

J. McHaney

The last day of pre-registration for classes draws in a number of procrastinating students anxious to avoid the hassles of regular registration.

J. McHaney

Dragnet: UMR police officer Tad Sweeny scans a Gold parking lot for violators of the university's parking restrictions.

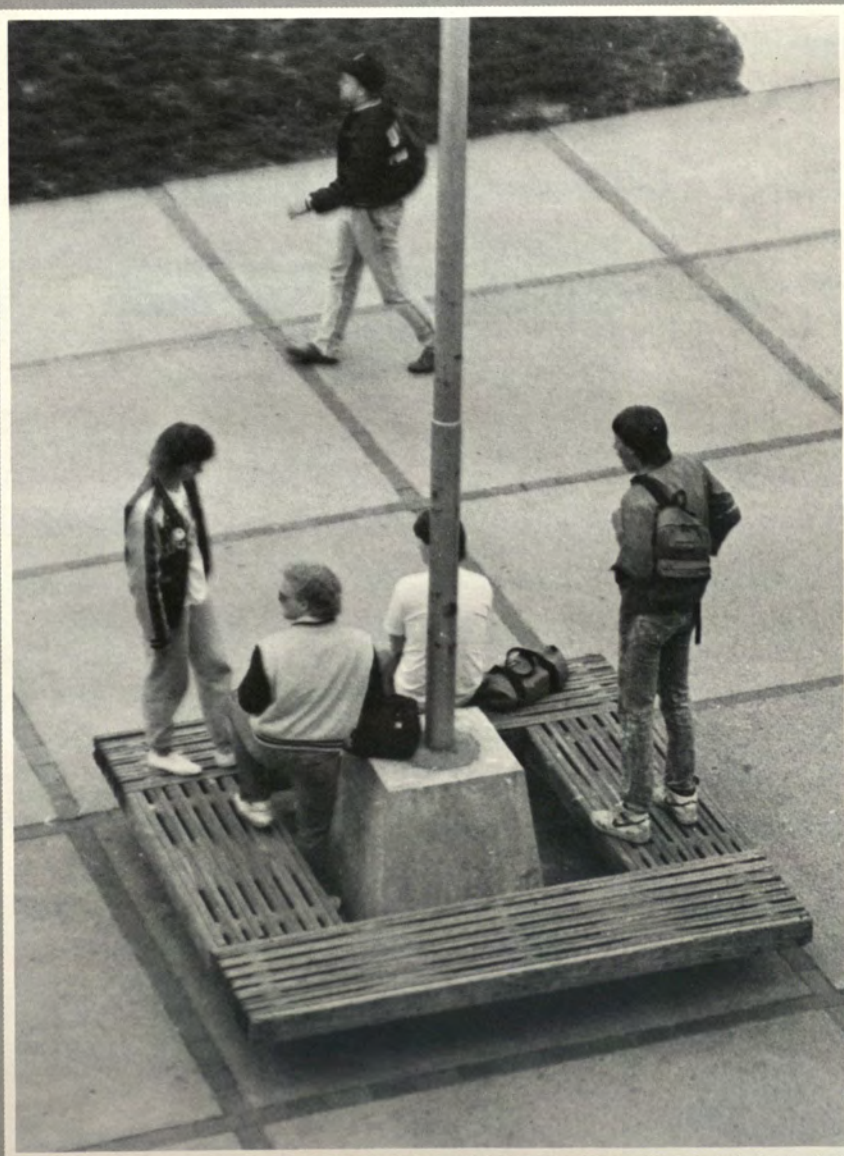

R. Spurlock

The front desk at T.J. provides a source of information for upcoming events in the dorm.

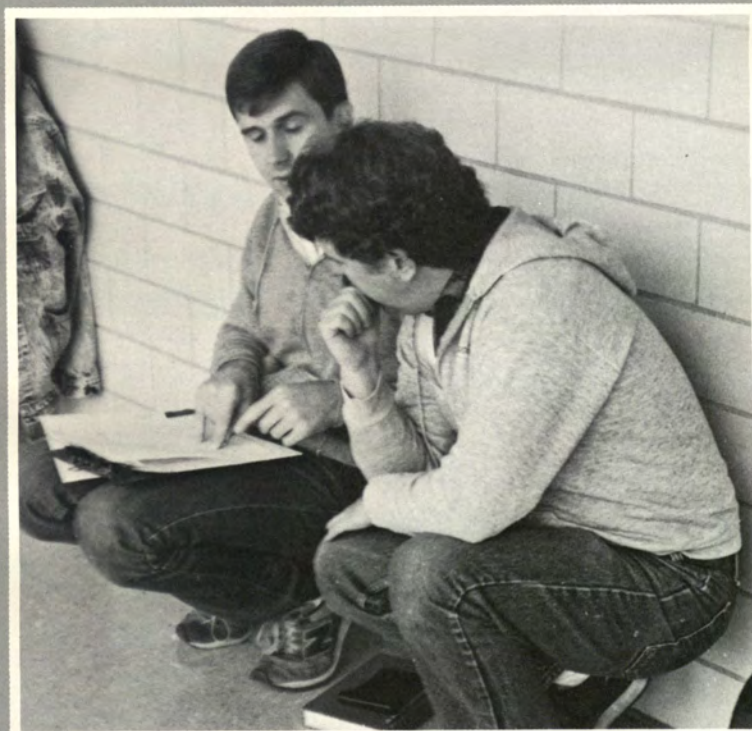

G. Oellig

The dining area in University Center-East is a common place for students and faculty alike to eat and converse during the lunch hour.

J. McHaney

Early-Afternoon

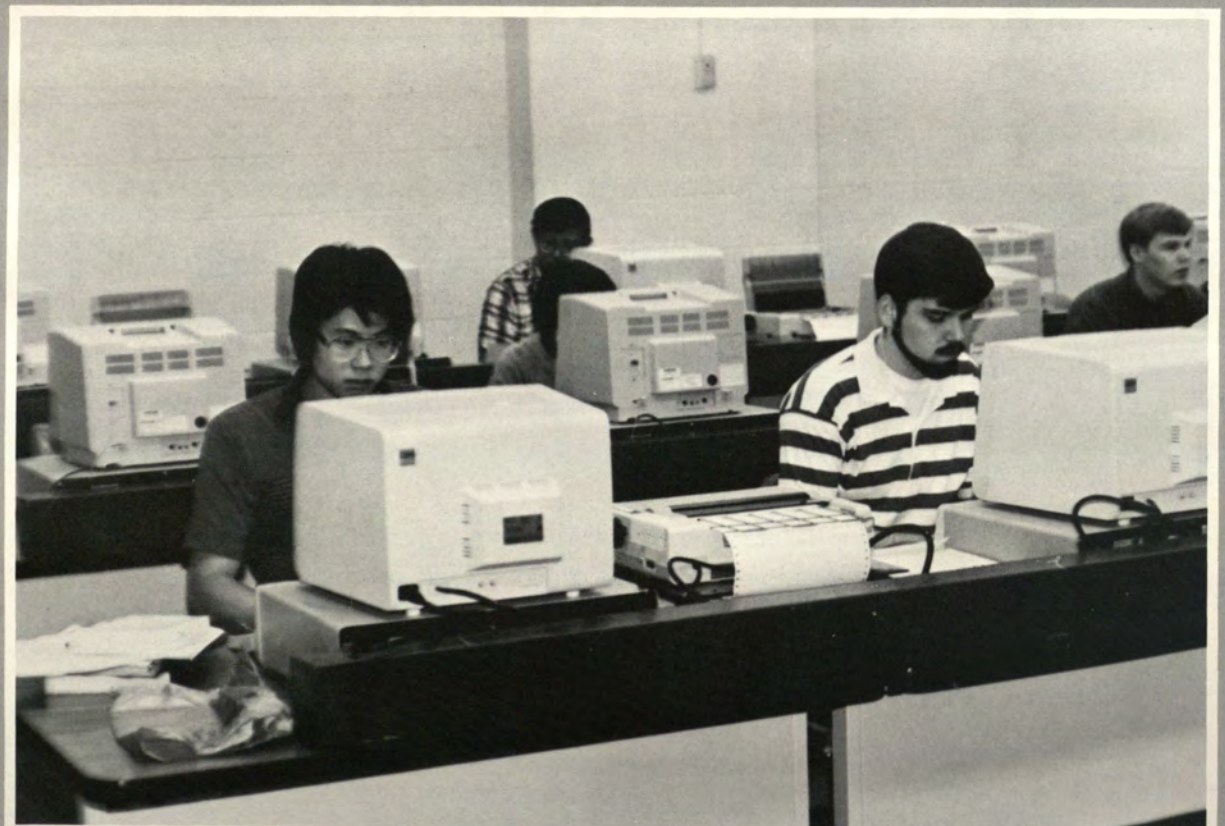

Mike Sinnet takes the afternoon hours to do his wash at a nearby laundromat.

The International Day ticket booth by the Hockey Puck works to expose UMR students to foreign cultures on the upcoming Sunday.

G. Oellig

The PC lab becomes active as students work to finish their work before the weekend.

G. Oellig

J. McHaney

The ground crew works to keep the grounds of the university healthy and attractive.

J. Steck

Sparks fly at the Mechanical Engineering Shop as a graduate student works to cut through a piece of metal.

G. Oellig

The study tables at the library fill up as the day's tests grow closer.

J. McHaney

The Life of Riley: Two of UMR's 5000 students take time out to bask in the afternoon sun on the campus mall.

T.G.I.F.

J. Lamar

School's out for the week at the Kappa Alpha house on Fraternity Row and it's time to party.

J. Lamar

On the rocks: The brothers of Sigma Tau Gamma open the weekend by tapping a keg.

G. Oellig

T.J. residents kick off the weekend with a game of Frisbee Football.

J. McHaney

A breath of fresh air: A dorm resident welcomes the weekend after a long week of school and study.

J. McHaney

An impromptu game of B-Ball at the outdoor courts of the Multi-Useless Building helps to wear off some of the day's frustrations.

Dinnertime

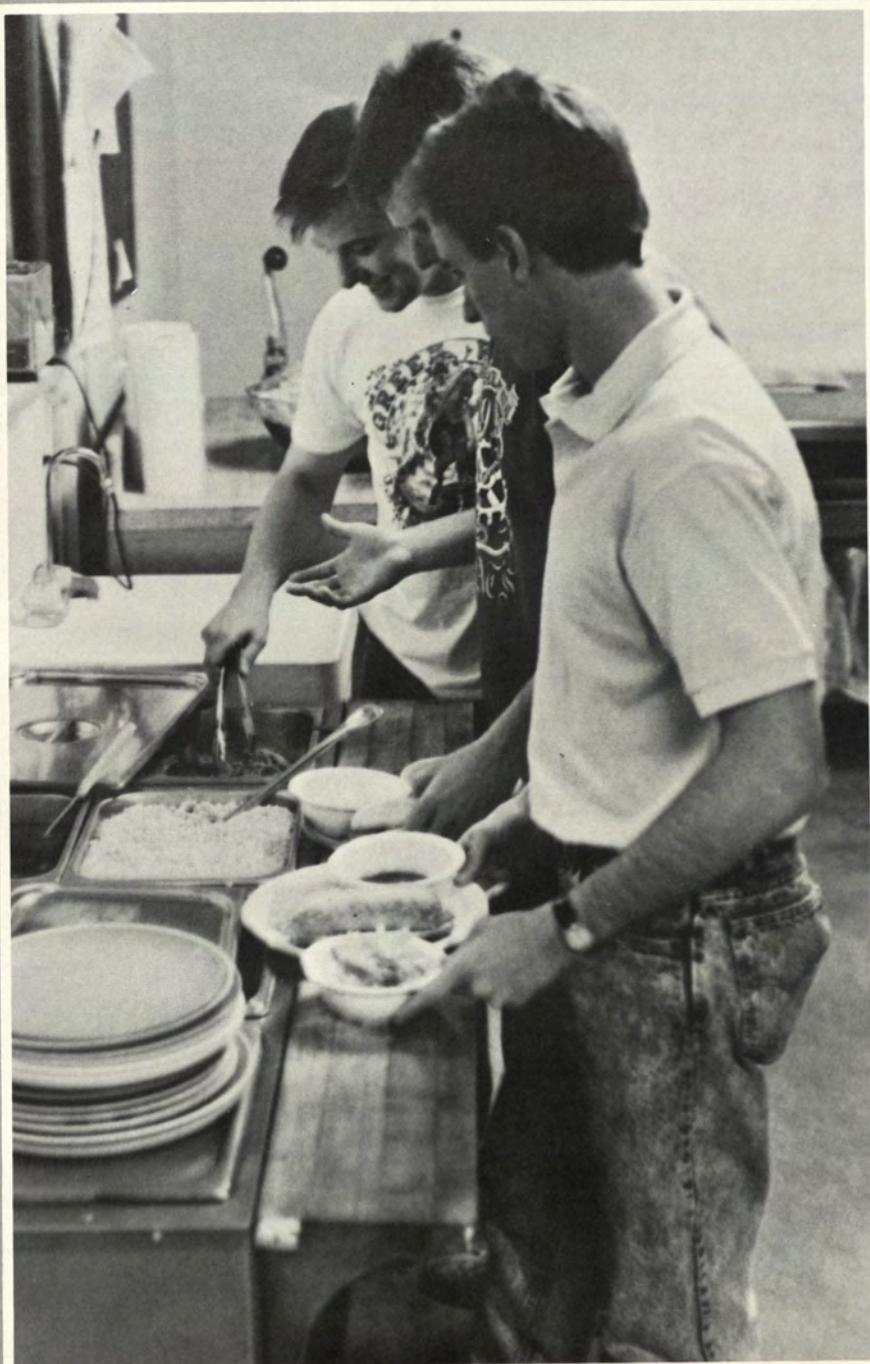

J. Lamar

Preparing for the long night of partying ahead, one of the brothers of Sigma Chi Fraternity takes an afternoon nap.

Dinnertime at Sigma Chi gives the brothers a chance to go over the day's events.

J. Lamar

J. Lamar

R. Spurlock

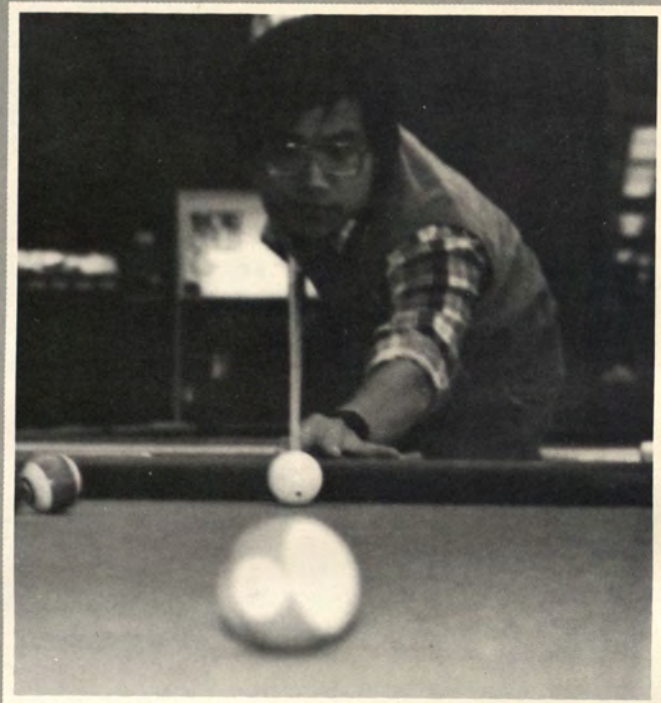

J. McHaney

Left: On weekends, the formalities of a typical sit-down dinner are replaced by self-service.

The Gallery student lounge becomes deserted by all but studious foreign students on Friday afternoons.

Late-Night

B. Booth

Sighting up a shot, a foreign exchange student takes advantage of the pool tables in the University Center to improve his game.

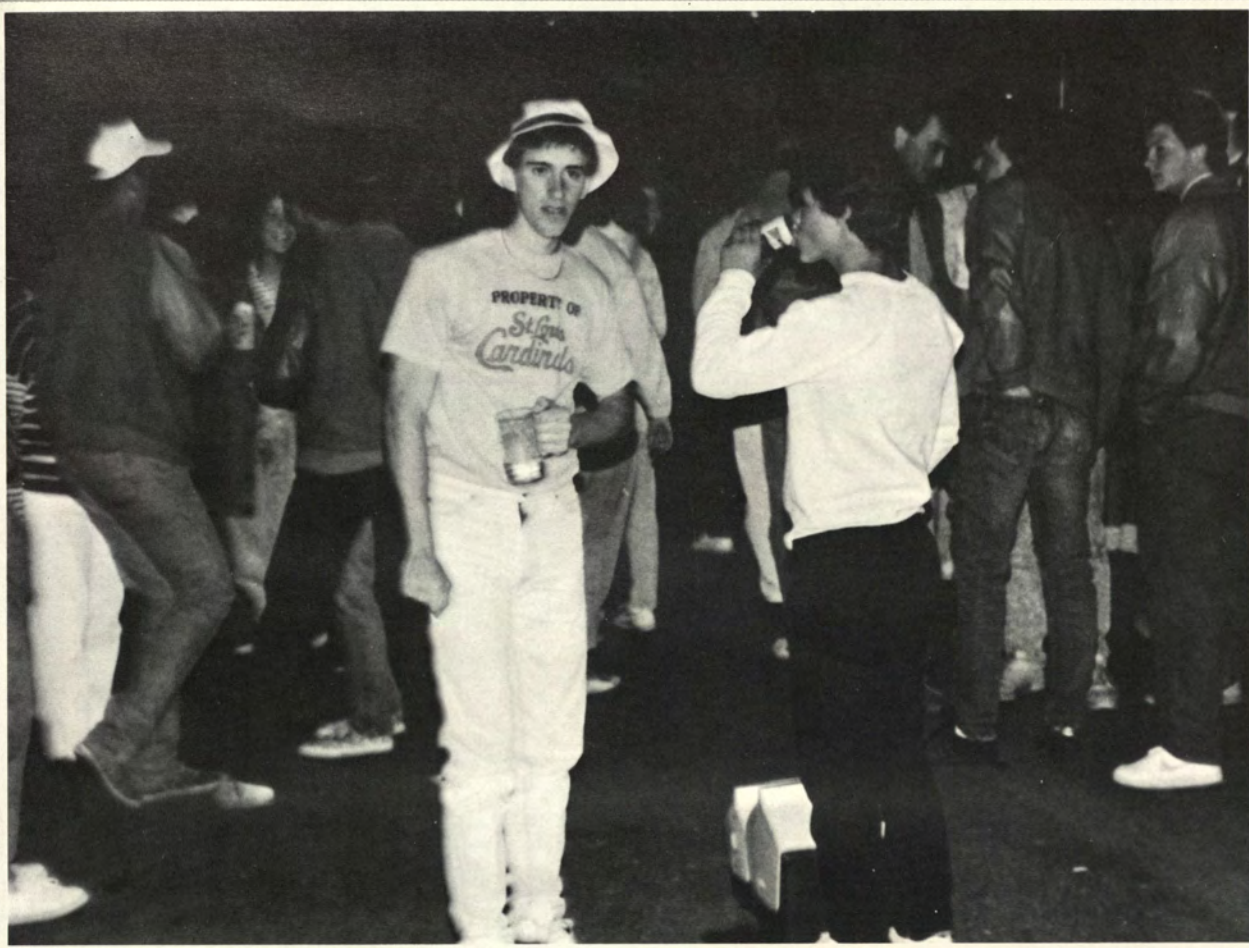

Dave Meriwether signs on the air at the student run KMNR radio station.

J. McHaney

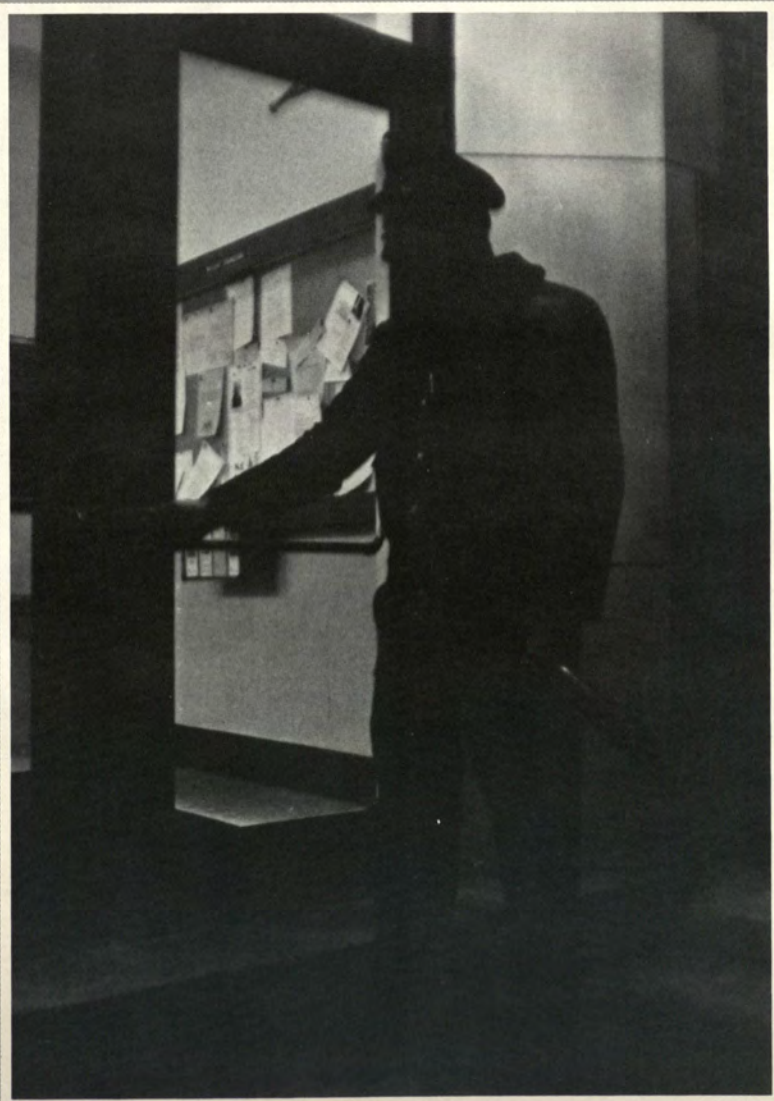

Many students find part-time work at Domino's Pizza during the school year.

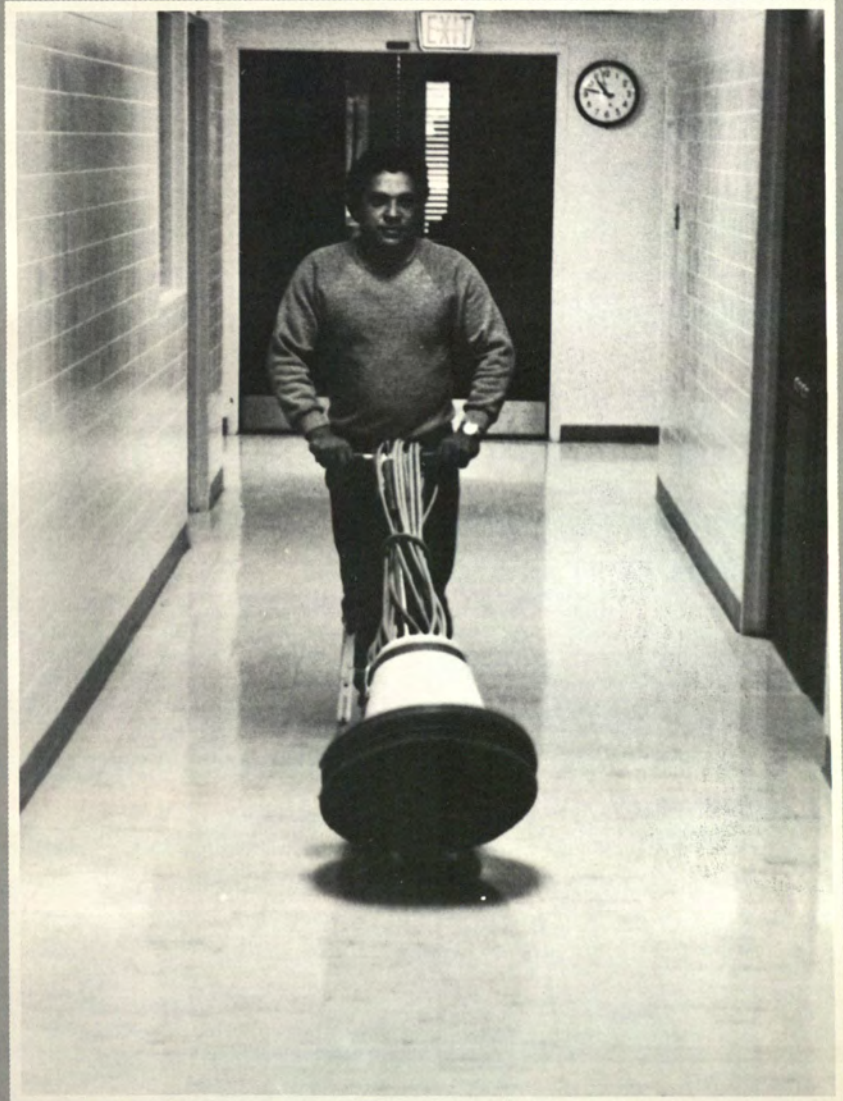

J. Lamar

Rick Stehlin and Mark Wrocklage come out prepared for the All-Greek Street Dance on Fraternity Row.

J. McHaney

Security guard Jim Jurgensmeyer inspects the door to the Mechanical Engineering Building as part of his rounds of the campus.

J. Steck

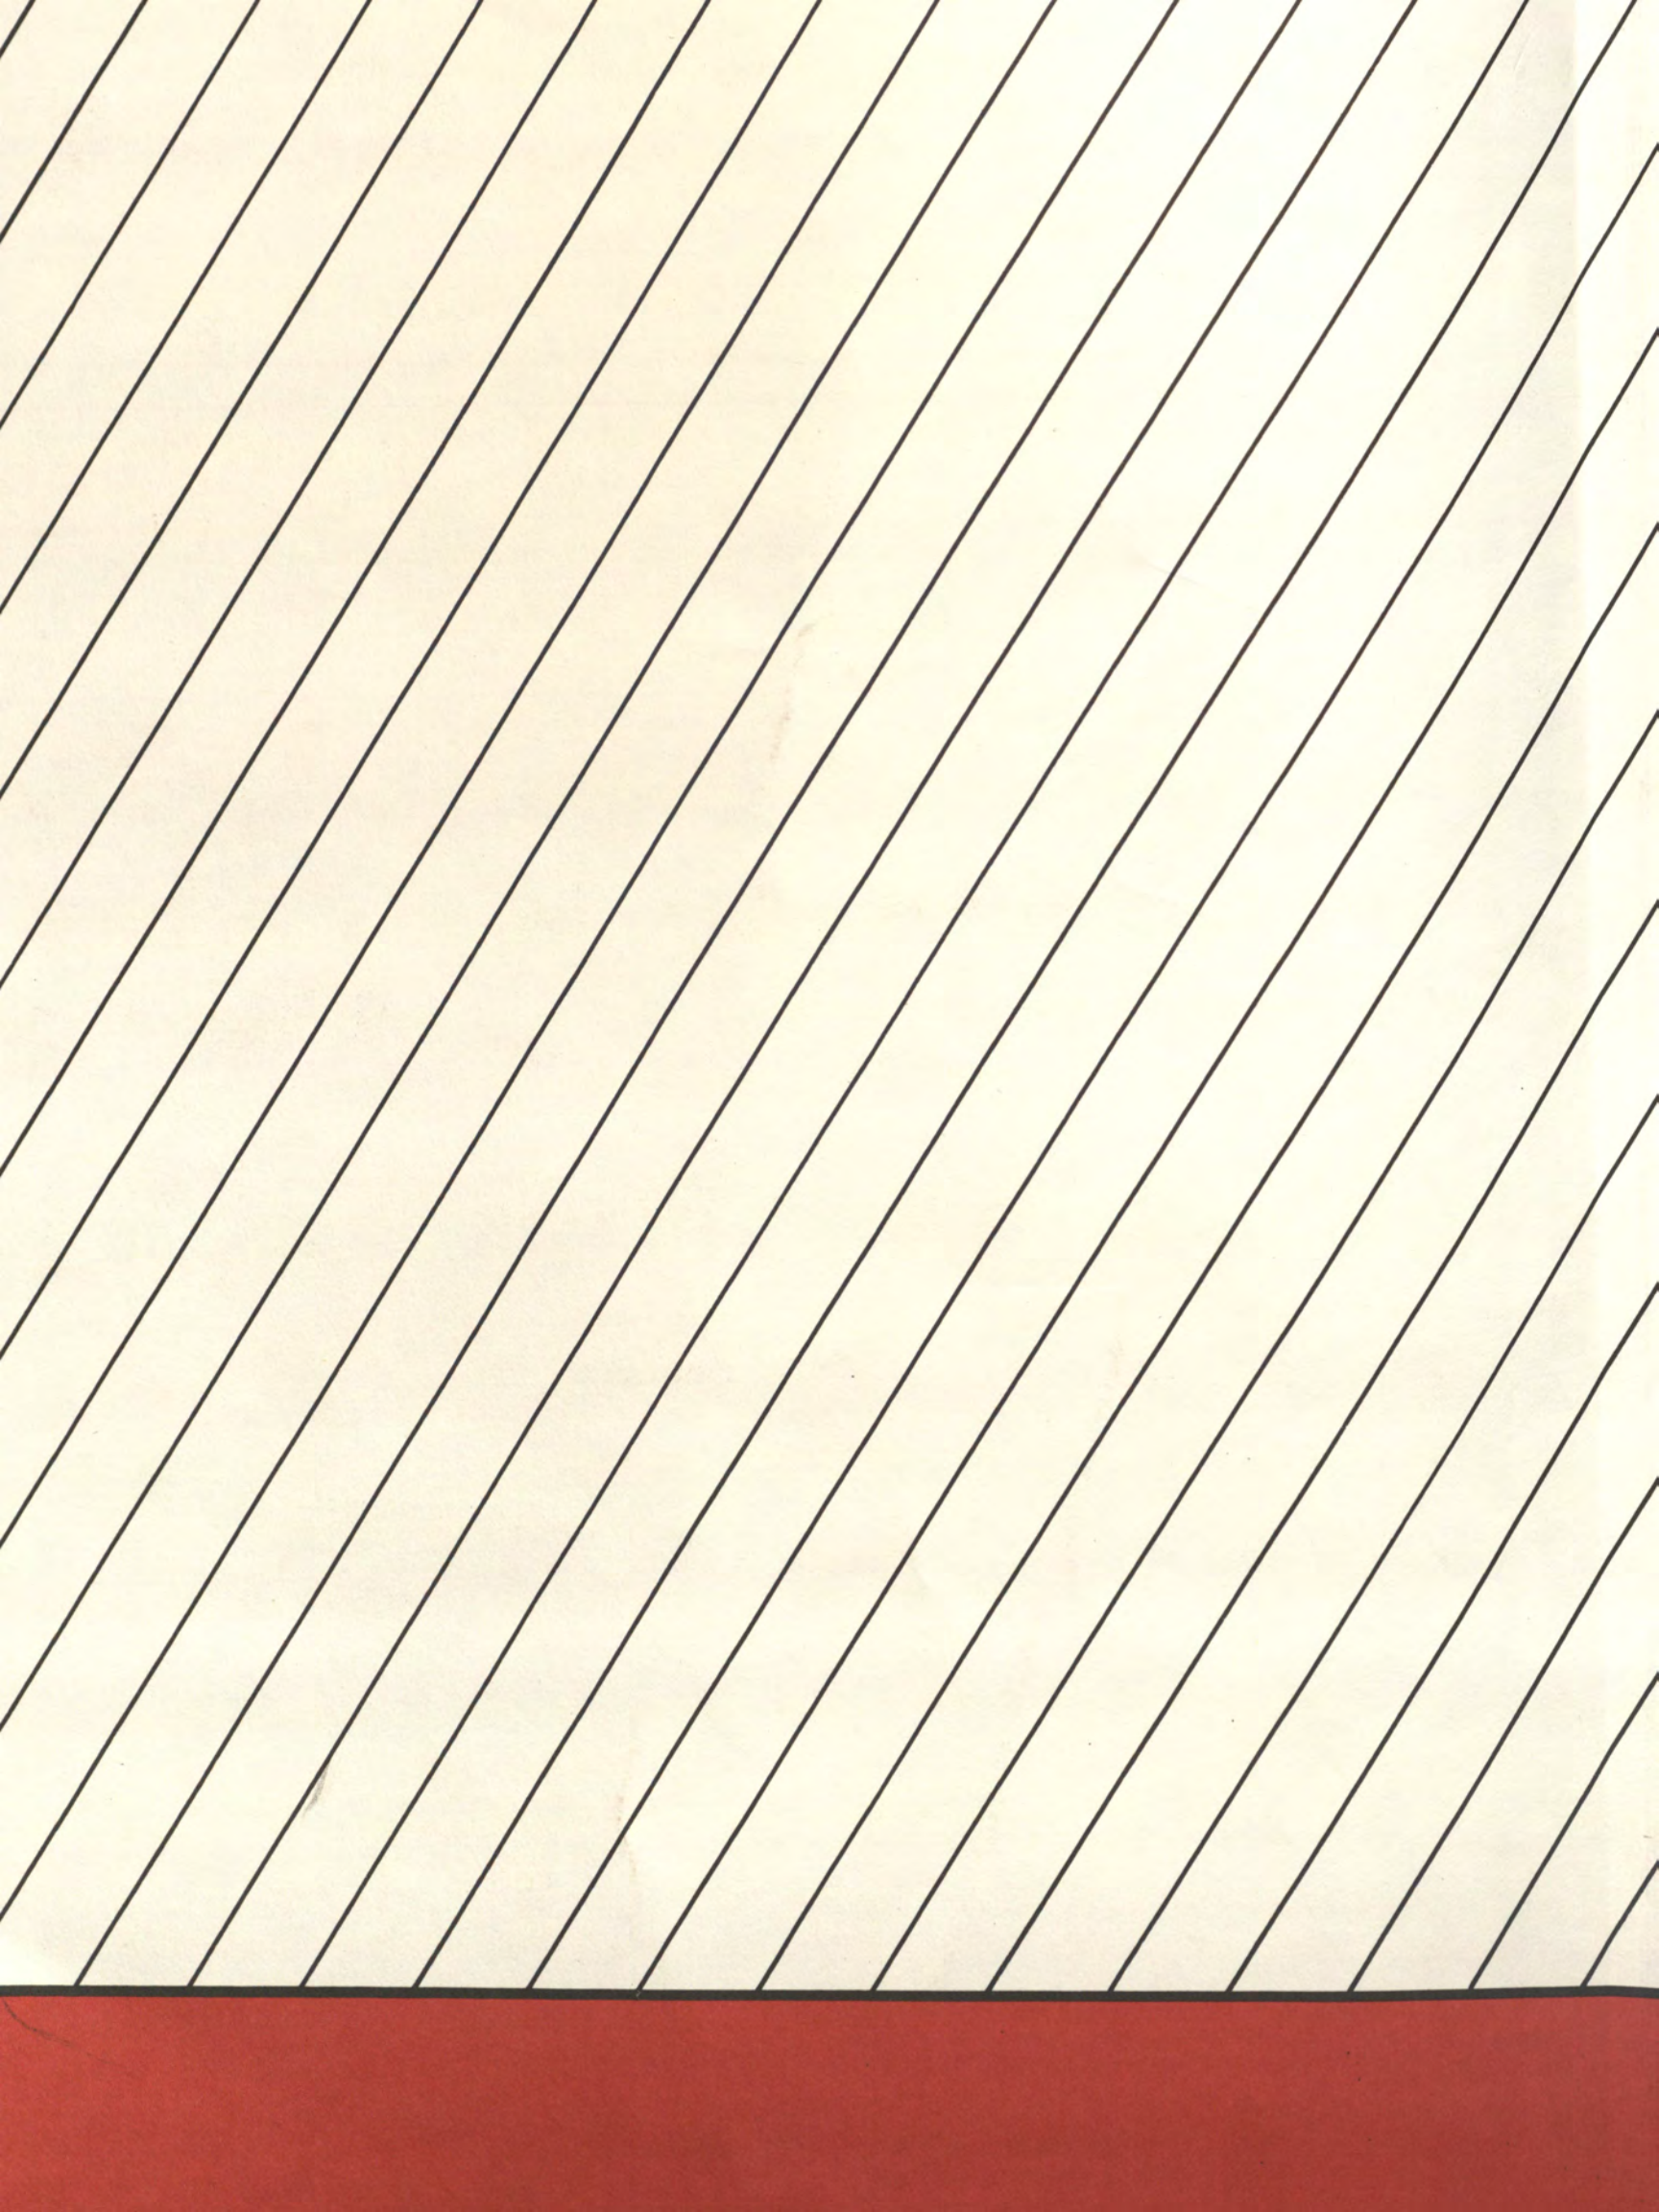

The halls of the ME building receive a late night cleaning.

Parting Shot

No Way To Grade!

Professor John Farrell jokingly tests his throwing arm and grades exams simultaneously on the steps of the Miles Auditorium in the ME Building.
